Furniture Sale At Rhodes-Day

Rhodes-Day Furniture company today announced an unprecedented sale of used furniture.

Numerous trade-ins during the past two months have accumulated and the stock of used furniture has reached the point where it must be moved in order to make room for recent purchases at the leading furniture exportations.

The company has the largest and best selections of used and reconditioned furniture in its history and the decision has been reached to start a big sale on the used furniture and furnishings on Friday morning.

The furniture includes bedroom, livingroom, diningroom, kitchen and library furniture, in fact, almost every desired type. Many articles are almost as good as new and with many years of good service left.

The prices at which this furniture will be sold can be better appreciated with consideration of the fact that furniture prices are rising. But the rising market has nothing to do with the prices at this sale of used furniture, which are surprisingly low.

It will be worthwhile for anyone interested in furniture to visit Rhodes-Day company early during this sale and look over the stock. There may be just the item or piece of furniture desired at less than half the price one would ordinarily expect to pay.

New Shoe Shop Now Open For Business
The Tenth Street Shoe Shop, which has just been opened by N. A. Howell, is now ready to serve the public. The new shop is located next door to the Sanitary Barber Shop, and the latest type Champion shoe repair machinery has been installed.

Mr. Howell, the proprietor, has been in the shoe repair business for over 25 years, and he respectfully solicits the patronage of the public.

Industrial accidents last year cost American industry one and one-half billion man-hours of production, or enough labor to build 15,000 bombers.

Cleanser Ray Is Predicted
Bloomfield, N. J.—Westinghouse scientists predicted today that invisible ultra-violet rays used in air-conditioning eventually may end the spread of airborne disease germs.

A new 12-story apartment house in Washington will be the first large residential building to provide ultra-violet conditioned air Westinghouse announced. It will be opened for occupancy next month.

A battery of 124 ultra-violet lamps will treat the air with bacteria-killing radiations at the rate of 40,000 cubic feet per second.

Such treatment, according to Dr. Harvey C. Rentschler, Westinghouse research scientist, "will make it nearly impossible under ordinary conditions for families living in the apartment house to cross-infect each other" with airborne germs.

The lamps, he added, will exterminate 95 per cent of the bacteria in the air "or as many as 90,000,000 an hour."
