Dr. Rustin Speaks To Kiwanis Club Here On Friday

Dr. John W. Rustin, of Washington, D. C., who was in this city last week as guest minister in the revival at the First Methodist church, delivered an inspiring address before the North Wilkesboro Kiwanis club Friday noon.

The program was in charge of W. E. Jones, who asked Rev. A. C. Waggoner to present the speaker.

Dr. Rustin made a very challenging talk on "Philosophies of Life in Times of Confusion".

One Philosophy in Life is "Me and My Wife, My Son John, His Wife, Us Four and No More".

A second classification includes those who enjoy being sick; or in trouble. They find great satisfaction in describing their ills.

The third classification includes those who see sunshine behind the clouds. They recognize the difficulties and hardships, but refuse to whimper and quit.

The talk was very forceful and generally liked by the members of the club.

Guests Friday were as follows: George M. Martin, of Raleigh.

Baptist church, Augusta, Ga., delivered an inspiring baccalaureate sermon to the class in the presence of a capacity audience. Rev. Mr. Eller, a former student of North Wilkesboro schools and who has become one of the best known Baptist ministers in the south, used as a theme, "Constant Things In A Changing World".

The message was received with rapt interest. Music during the service was by the junior high school chorus composed of 40 girls. Dr. John W. Kincheloe, Jr., Rev. A. C. Waggoner and Rev. Sidney Crane, First Baptist, First Methodist and Presbyterian pastors, assisted in the service. Bill Gabriel, senior class president, presided.

Graduates will carry out the program Thursday night. Following the processional the high school band will play the national anthem. Vivian McNeill will lead the invocation. Superintendent Paul S. Cragan will present the

Aged Man Found Dead On Sunday

James Kilby Jennings, 91-year-old citizen of the Gilreath community, was found dead in bed at the home of his son, P. A. Jennings, Sunday morning.

The aged man was apparently in normal health when he retired Saturday night.

Surviving Mr. Jennings are one son, P. A. Jennings, who lives near Gilreath, and one daughter, Mrs. C. C. Ellledge, of North Wilkesboro.

Funeral services were held today, 11 a. m., at the home and burial was in Parker cemetery. Rev. A. B. Hayes and Rev. Parks Robinson conducted the service.

aside from selling poppies, but also from having something tangible to do instead of having to read or talk. These men in the government hospitals are delighted to keep their fingers busy and their minds occupied with the intricacies of fashioning the poppies. Needy wives and children also reap benefits from the sale of the flowers.

"We have been selling these Memorial Day flowers for 14 years and each year the poppy becomes more closely identified with the American Legion Auxiliary and with our disabled men. We hope the service will continue indefinitely."

"SAFE, SANE AND SOBER"

"I like the fine fitness of the man"
Mr. Simms said.

Honorable Robert N. Simms Sr., an outstanding Christian leader who was for three terms President of the Baptist State Convention, was selected by Mr. Hoey to close his campaign for Governor in 1936 over a State-wide radio hook-up. Mr. Simms predicts a "tremendous majority vote for Ralph McDonald for Governor".

I did not support Dr. McDonald in his race eight years ago, but on the contrary supported my lifelong friend, Clyde Hoey, and had the honor of making the closing speech in his behalf over a State-wide radio hook-up the night before the election.

At that time I had a high regard for Dr. McDonald, but I felt that because of Mr. Hoey's age and long period of service to the party he should be given the nomination rather than the younger man. Of course, under such circumstances, one might almost feel that it was only fair for the younger man to have the nomination when the next chance occurred.

As I have watched Dr. McDonald's career, I have formed a real admiration for him. He is a brave man and I like that. Bravery has characterized his public conduct, and it also characterizes his spirit when he had to go to the sanatorium after the campaign eight years ago and fight for recovery of his health. He did it valiantly and made a full recovery. He is a hard-working man and has great capacity and endurance. He is studious and knows history and current events. He is a thinker but not in any sense a recluse. He loves people and mingles with them and inspires and stimulates them by his public address as well as by his personal contacts. He is forward looking and brings to bear his knowledge of history and current events to help form opinions for the future. He has statesmanlike thoughts as to what our State should be and do. He has made declarations of the planks of his platform, or the principles for which he stands, without waiting for anybody else to do so.

He is a leader in thought. He thinks in behalf of the people and their interests.

He is a people's man. He has consistently opposed the sales tax which has been oppressive and odious to our people. He has stood and stands for public education and has recently been elected president of the great association of teachers of North Carolina. They ought to know what manner of man he is.

He has been endorsed by the merchants and he has the support of the laboring people. He is, in every respect, a people's candidate for this great place of leadership in our State.

I like the fine fitness of the man for the office. Measured by every standard, he seems to me to be qualified to become a worthy successor of that fine line of noble men who have graced this high office for the past forty-four years. I believe that in him the Democratic party can offer to the people of the State as fine a leader as they have been accustomed to put forth and one who I believe is safe, sane and sober, studious and statesmanlike, and one who will not only lead the party but the whole people of North Carolina into that great advancement and progress which should mark our State and its performance in the tremendously important years that lie immediately ahead.

I am expecting the people of North Carolina to cast a tremendous majority for Dr. Ralph McDonald for Governor.

(Signed) R. N. SIMMS SR.
