More Big Potatoes In Freak Window

Latest additions to The Journal-Patriot freak window are two giant size Irish potatoes. The two potatoes have a total weight of almost four pounds.

These potatoes were grown on the farm of Tom Hampton at Aho in Watauga county. He gave them to his cousin, Grady Canter, of Purllear, and asked that he bring them here and let people see a big, high quality potatoes. Johnson has a crop of 1,480 lbs. this year, and practically all of them are large potatoes. And today O. W. Proffitt, Goshens, brought in a 3 1/2 pound sweet potato, which makes three about that size we are now showing, and he also brought in a freak street potato in the shape of an oriental pipe.
