Ex Libris Club Met With Mrs. Johnston

The Ex Libris club members were entertained in their fortnightly meeting on Friday afternoon at Mrs. John Johnston at her home on Tenth Street. Someone was asked to discuss some of the books that the members had read and planning for future programs. Refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Spainhour Feted On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Spainhour were honored at a "Family Dinner" given by their children at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Spainhour on Sunday, September 29, to celebrate the Spainhours' golden wedding anniversary. Dinner was served at the noon hour at a beautifully appointed table in keeping with the golden note. Yellow roses were used for the centerpiece, the place cards were suggestive of the occasion, and about the home were arrangements of goldenrod.

Those present for the dinner besides the honored couple were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Spainhour, of Elkin; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Spainhour, of Hickory; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bason and son Billy Bason, Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Spainhour and two children, Mary and Jimmy; and Mr. Roy Spainhour, who presented their parents with a handsome purse of money.

After the dinner the group went to the home of the Senior Spainhours, where they were at home to a number of their friends, who called during the afternoon to offer their congratulations and best wishes. The callers were served the wedding cake with Russian tea.

Miss Ruth Sidden Is Bride Of Glenn Winters

The wedding of Miss Ruth Elisabeth Sidden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey C. Sidden, of North Wilkesboro, and Glenn Samuel Winters, son of Mr. G. Sam Winters, of North Wilkesboro, and the late Charley Belle Hult Winters, took place Saturday, October fifth, at five o'clock in the afternoon at the First Baptist church. Dr. David E. Browning, pastor of the bride, and Rev. Watt M. Cooper, pastor of the groom, were the officiating ministers, using the double ring ceremony.

The front of the church was banked with white pine and ferns interspersed with floor baskets of white gladioli, and lighted by white candles in branched standards forming a pyramid effect. Special pews were marked with clusters of the white flowers, caught with white satin ribbon, while in the windows gleamed white candles embedded in greenery.

Prior to the ceremony hour a program of nuptial music was rendered by Miss Lois Scroggs, organist, and Miss Dot Gabriel, soloist. Miss Scroggs in prelude played "Air" (Bach), "Romance" (Wheeldon) and "On Wings of Song" (Mendelssohn), after which Miss Gabriel sang "Because" (d'Hardlot), and "Always" (Berlin). During the ceremony Miss Scroggs sounded muted notes of "Ave Marie" (Bach) and at the close Miss Gabriel sang the marriage hymn "O Perfect Love." The traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by three of her sisters, Misses Blanche and Mabel Sidden as maids of honor, and Sue Winters as flower girl. Gene Winters, brother of the groom, served as ring bearer. Best man for the groom was his brother, Charles Winters, and the ushers were L. E. Pickens, Claremont; J. T. Sidden, of Winston-Salem; Edward Pendry, of Hays; and Clarence D. Wiles, of North Wilkesboro.

Wedding gown for the bride was of white satin fashioned with fitted bodice, long puffed sleeves ending in points over the hand, and net, over a full skirt, which extended into a long train. At the waist was a scalloped peplum which was repeated in the edging of the net yoke. Her fingertip veil of net was caught with sprays of orange blossoms, and she carried a white prayer book decked with a white orchid. Her only ornament was a double strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

The maids of honor wore identical dresses of pink taffeta designed with sweetheart neckline, close fitting bodice, short puffed sleeves, and net over a very full skirt. They had pink flowers in their hair, and carried nosegays of pink roses showered with blue delphinium. The flower girl was dressed in white dotted swiss, which was made similar to that of the maids of honor, and she had a white basket filled with rose petals.

The ring bearer, dressed in a white gabardine suit, carried the ring on a white satin pillow.

Mrs. Sidden, mother of the bride, was dressed in a navy blue pinned striped suit, black accessories, and her flowers were a corsage of red roses and baby breath. Mrs. G. Sam Winters wore a black bolero crepe dress, with aqua trim, black accessories, and a corsage of pink roses and baby breath.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at an informal reception at their home on Trogon Street for members of the bridal party, relatives, and out of town guests. Later in the evening the bridal couple left for a wedding to Virginia, and upon their return will be at home temporarily at the Winters home on Ninth Street. For traveling the bride changed to a light brown wool suit, with white pin stripe. Her accessories were dark brown, and she planned at her shoulder the orchid from her prayer book.

The bride, a graduate of the North Wilkesboro high school, attended the Twin-City College of Commerce in Winston-Salem, and now holds a position with the American Furniture Company in North Wilkesboro. The groom, graduated from the high school in Laurinburg and served two years in the navy, fourteen months of which was in the Pacific Area. He received his discharge in July and is now associated in business with his father in the Wilkes Implement Company in Wilkesboro.

Phillips-Fletcher Vows Solemnized

Miss Inez Phillips became the bride of Mr. William Fletcher, both of Purlar, at the home of the groom, Friday. Rev. Vernon Eller officiated before an arrangement of white pines, candleabra and white forgetmenots, using the double ring ceremony. Only the close relatives of the bride and groom were present.

The bride wore a woolen ice blue dress with silver sequin trimmings and black accessories were used. Her shoulder bouquet was American Beauty Rosebuds. Miss Phillips is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Phillips and William Fletcher is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William E. Fletcher, and a nephew of Winfield S. Fletcher.

Mrs. M. F. Brown Is Feted On Birthday

To honor Mrs. M. F. Brown on her 86th birthday her only daughter, Mrs. J. W. Neel, entertained at a come and sit tea, on the last day of September. Those present were relatives and close friends. The occasion was a complete surprise to Mrs. Brown, who was visiting in the home of Mrs. I. M. Myers, of North Wilkesboro, and returned home after all the guests had arrived and were singing Happy Birthday when she entered the room.

The home was decorated throughout with a profusion of Fall flowers some of which were presents for the honoree. The dining room table was covered with a cream lace cloth over yellow. A white cake with yellow candles was placed at one end while at the other was a crystal bowl with yellow chrysanthemums.

After a social hour together the guests were served ice cream and angel food cake by three granddaughters, Miss Nancy Brown, Mrs. Arthur Lowe and

Mrs. James Creedmoore.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Viola Shropshire, Fairplains, Mrs. Docea Higgins and Mrs. Rebecca Higgins of Winston-Salem, and Mrs. James Creedmoore and daughters, Jane and Nancy, of Statesville. Many beautiful gifts attested the thoughtfulness of her many friends.

Mesdames Lillard, Hauser and Harvel Give Tea Thursday

A delightful social affair of the week was the "Come-and-Sit" tea given by Mrs. Guy Lillard, Mrs. Gaja Scroggs Hauser and their niece, Mrs. Paul Harvel, Jr., at the Lillard home on C Street Thursday afternoon. A large number of friends called in groups between the hours of 2:30 to 5:00 to enjoy the gracious hospitality of the hostesses.

The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. J. S. Deans, Mrs. J. M. Crawford and Miss Ruby Blackburn alternated in pouring tea at the dining table, and those assisting in the serving were Mrs. T. G. McLaughlin, Mrs. W. F. Absher, Mrs. C. C. Faw, Sr., Miss Charlotte Harvel and Mrs. Maurice Walsh. Mrs. Roy Forehand directed guests to the living room where they were seated for the refreshments. Assisting the hostesses here were Mrs. William Carrington, Mrs. Melvin Stahl, and Miss Lois Scroggs, sister of Mrs. Lillard and Mrs. Hauser.

The dining table, spread with a Maderia cloth, was centered with a bowl of tallman roses about which yellow candles gleamed. Mixed fall blossoms were used about the home.
