WHY Risk Driving With Thin Smooth Tires?

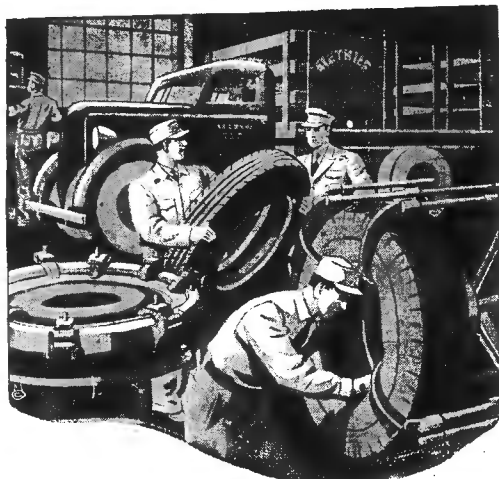

4 Men Can't Pull Our Recap Loose

Are you driving on thin, smooth tires? Then you are taking this risk: The tread on a tire helps soak up the impacts when the tire is run over rocks or rough spots in the road. A tire with a good, thick tread will take a lot of punishment. But if the tread is thin, there is very little rubber to absorb these impacts. The carcass may become so weakened that the tire will blow out the first time you drive it on a hot highway.

Why take this risk? Let us recap your tires with thick, new treads.

OUR SAFETY PLEDGE—

We will not accept a tire for recapping unless our examination shows that the carcass is in good condition. This is your assurance that our recaps are safe and dependable.
