Soup Greasy?
If soup looks a little on the greasy side, toss a lettuce leaf into the pot. It will absorb the grease. Remove as soon as it has done its job.

Unused Soap
Fats and oils for making soap are still scarce. Don't throw out small thin bits of unused soap. Make them into a soap jelly with boiling water. Soap jelly is excellent for washing hose, gloves and under things.

Egg Knowledge
A cold egg just out of the refrigerator separates most easily because the white is firm and the yolk less likely to break. The white whips best after the egg has warmed to room temperature. How long to whip is another secret the cook needs to know. Whites should be whipped stiff but not dry. A pinch of salt helps them to hold their stiffness. On the other hand, even a small particle of fat in the white will prevent it from beating stiff. Eggs are a natural protective food, eat at least 3 or 4 a week.

Safety
Keep small children out of the kitchen or in a pen while handling jellies, preserves and while canning. This also applies when dishing out hot soup or other liquids.

Keep pot holders dry to prevent burns from hot pans.

Potatoes and other foods to be fried must be dry. Water makes hot grease splatter. A burn from hot grease is very painful. If it catches on fire, put it out with a handful of salt or soda—never use water.

Laundry
Does your conscience hurt you when you throw away left-over starch? We have found that it keeps for a week or more if stored in an air tight container in the refrigerator. If your refrigerator is over-crowded, try floating 1-2 inch cold water on top of it and keep in a cool place.

Sour Cream Saves Salad Oil
If cream turns sour, put it to good use in saving other fats and oils. Even a half pint of sour cream can make enough dressing for salad to serve six, thus saving salad oil. A recipe that is especially good for a chilled fruit salad is: Use 2 whole eggs or 4 egg yolks; 1-4 cup vinegar; 1 cup sour cream; 1-2 T. sugar; 1/2 t. salt; 1-4 t. mustard; 1-8 t. paprika. Beat the eggs and add the other ingredients. Mix thoroughly. Cook in a double boiler and stir constantly until the mixture thickens. Chill before serving on chilled fruit.

Outwitting Mildew
Though mildew is most troublesome in tropical and subtropical climates, it may be a problem as far North as Alaska. To prevent the growth of the damaging molds that cause mildew do everything possible to keep the house dry and well aired. If mildew has made a start, a small stove or heater may dry out one room enough to stop the growth. If larger areas are affected, it may be necessary to turn on the central heating system for a few hours. The warmed air will absorb surplus moisture. Then partly open windows and doors and run an electric fan to help force out the warm, moist air more quickly. In warm, very damp weather, keep doors and windows closed during the day. Then ventilate at night when the air outside is cooler and drier than inside.

A small electric light left burning in a closet usually dries out the air enough to prevent mildew. Or, if necessary, run an electric fan in the closet to stir up air. A jar of calcium chloride kept open in a closet acts as a drying agent, but must be replaced from time to time since it can absorb only so much moisture and no more. Now and then, leave drawers and closet doors open for an airing.

Let clothing and household fabrics dry thoroughly before throwing them into the hamper to await laundering. Spread out wet dishcloths, washcloths, or shower curtains—never leave them "bunched up" or in a heap. When ironing, sprinkle only as many clothes as can be ironed in a day.

Awings, cotton shower curtains, and other fabrics exposed to great deals of dampness may be treated with chemicals to make them resist mildew. Special products to use may be purchased at drug or department stores. Or sometimes mildew resistant fabrics may be purchased.

J. R. Bumgarner

James Rufus Bumgarner was born June 4, 1869, departed this life Feb. 28, 1947, making his stay on earth 77 years, 8 months and 24 days. He was united in marriage to Mary E. Wyatt July 14, 1895, who survives. To this union were born 11 children, all living, 4 sons and 7 daughters: Talmage, Tomie, Conrad and Dewey, Mrs. Rome Spears, Mrs. J. F. Eller, Mrs. J. J. South, of Wilbar; Mrs. J. Q. Yates, North Wilkesboro, Route 1; Mrs. W. C. Faw, North Wilkesboro Route 1; Mrs. J. M. Cleary, Kannapolis; Mrs. Avery Barnes, Darlington, Md.; and one sister, Mrs. A. S. Eller, of Millers Creek.

He professed a hope in Christ and united with New Hope Baptist church at an early age; later joined Union Baptist church, where he was a member until death, and also was a deacon for many years. He is greatly missed in Wilkes county, especially in the Blue ridge community where he visited so many homes in sickness, and did what he could. He was always going about doing good.—Contributed.

Mrs. Darwin Smithey Entertains Her Club

Ex Libris club members in their fortnightly meeting met with Mrs. Darwin Smithey at her home on Sixth Street Friday afternoon. Mrs. Richard Johnston, the president, was in charge of the business session during which time a possible visit to the mint museum in Charlotte was discussed. For the program Mrs. William C. Marlow gave an article on "The Wonder of Bells." Mrs. W. J. Caroon, Jr., was a guest of the club. Books were exchanged, and at the close of the afternoon the hostess served refreshments.

Wesleyan Service Guild of the Wilkesboro Methodist church will present a Bible study at the church Tuesday, 7:30 p. m. All circles are invited.
