Luckman Sees Grain Program Won By Jan. 1

New York.—Charles Luckman, chairman of the Citizens Food Committee, yesterday said that the voluntary food conservation program was going so well that its objective of saving 100,000,000 bushels of wheat and grain to feed Europe's hungry may be achieved before Jan. 1.

Luckman also told a news conference after a talk to representatives of civic, fraternal, veterans and other national organizations that other conservation measures might be instituted by Congress but added that his committee probably would wind up its immediate emergency task on or before the year's end.

Wilkes Honor Students At A. S. T. C., Boone

Boone, Oct. 28.—Five students from Wilkes are beginning the fall term with previous honor ratings the announcement just released from the office of Dean J. D. Rankin of A. S. T. C., says. They are as follows:

Fourth year student, Catherine Vannoy, North Wilkesboro. Juniors: Harley Jolley, Boomer; Elizabeth Pharr, Wilkesboro. Third year student, James A. Dennis, Wilkesboro. Special student, Robert G. Dennis, Wilkesboro.

The honor rating puts the student on the eligibility list for preferment to the highest student honors.

Legionnaires Will Meet Thursday

"All the way with Galloway" is our slogan for 1948. December 1st is the deadline for the "Go-Getters". Let every Legionaire be a member this year. The banquet at the convention is free, and the entertainment super.

Thursday, November 6th is the social meeting of the month. 8 p. m. is the time—and the Legion Hut is the place. Make a note on your crowded schedule, so you will be present at this meeting. It's your Legion, so do your part, in making 1948, the most successful year, in Legion history.—Contributed.

Unseen Tragedy

Heonor, England, Oct. 28.—Isaiah Wilcoxon, 74, and blind thanked the little girl for helping him across a Heonor street.

He didn't know snub-nosed June Smith, 6, couldn't hear him. He didn't know she had pushed him out of a speeding car's path and was killed.

She was buried today.
