Jaycees Launch New Drives For Wilkes County

The Wilkes Junior Chamber of Commerce convened in its regular meeting at the Carolina Restaurant. In the absence of President Jerry Derr, Vice President J. D. Moore called the meeting to order, at which time a motion was made and carried that the Jaycees were to go on record in favor of closing all business establishments in Wilkesboro and North Wilkesboro from December 25 through December 28. It was felt that this four-day respite from work would give all employees a much needed rest and would be especially in keeping with the Yuletide season.

Richard Johnston introduced the speaker of the evening, Tom Jenrette, secretary of the Wilkes Chamber of Commerce, who delivered a most inspiring and challenging address. Mr. Jenrette called on the Jaycees to lend their full support to the Flood Control committee in its efforts to conduct an educational program designed to acquaint the residents along Yadkin from Wilkes county to Georgetown, South Carolina, with the urgent need for immediate control in the river basin.

The Jaycees were unanimous in their approval to sponsor a Christmas home decoration contest. This contest would allow all homes within a given area an opportunity to be counted in on the contest. Decorations will be judged, taking into consideration the amount of effort, money, and means that goes into the decoration, the location and the spirit the scene portrays. Full details of this contest will be announced in the near future.
