

Cherokee Drama Schedules Extra Performances Of "Unto These Hills"

Cherokee — Two extra performances of "Unto These Hills" have been scheduled to take care of opening crowds, and Business Manager Carol White expressed confidence that all will be able to obtain seats during the first series of presentations—July 1 through 9. After this, the drama will go on a five day a week schedule, with performances weekly Wednesday through Sunday, at 8 p. m.

The amphitheatre, built of stone into a mountain side, seats 3,000. It is situated near the junction of N. C. 107, which leads into the Smoky Mountain Park, and U. S. 19. Reserve seats, including tax, are $2.40, and general admission $1.20 for adults, with half prices for children.

Manager White said good seats are still available for all nights, including the July 1 premiere. Mail orders may be addressed to Mountaintop Theatre, Cherokee, N. C.

Dining Room Open At Morrow Mtn.

Albemarle — Tremendously increased use of Morrow Mountain State Park, east of Albemarle just off N. C. Highway 740, has resulted in re-opening the dining room in the Lodge. State Parks Superintendent Thomas W. Morse said the dining room serves lunch and supper at popular prices, with capacity of 66. The Lodge also will accommodate groups up to 200 for special events. Swimming, picnicking and hiking are favorite sports at Morrow Mountain.

KEPT ALIVE BY DONATED BLOOD

SUFFERING FROM A RARE liver ailment, Mrs. Beatrice Rohol lies in Philadelphia's Pennsylvania Hospital as Nurse Marlon Smith attends her. The patient has already received 45 pints of blood in a four-week period and would bleed to death if it were not for the vital transfusions which are administered to her daily. Soil Conservation In Wilkes

By R. E. DUNN and JASPER CHIPMAN

Due to his father's poor health Mr. Worth Lackey who lives just off highway 18 out beyond Boomer has had to take over the management of their old home farm. Mr. Lackey states that given a little time he intends to have one of the best looking farms in his neighborhood. With the help of the Tri-Creek Soil Conservation District he intends to develop on his farm a plan that will put his land all in the best use suited for soil and water conservation. Mr. Lackey has shown that this is not all idle talk because he had already started some terracing, some very good strip cropping and is already preparing land for early pasture seeding this fall.

Mr. C. D. Earp of Boomer, N. C. is more than seventy years old but he is still doing a lot of active work and is very enthusiastic about soil conservation. He says that he intends to get more of his farm in good pasture each year and let the cattle do more work for him and at the same time he will be using his land in a way to keep it from washing away. Mr. Earp has one of the best fields of Kudzu in Wilkes county, of which he is very proud. This Kudzu was set by the Soil Conservation Service back in the days of the C.C.C.

Mr. Fred Walsh and his son Lester are working a good Conservation plan on their two farms out on Beaver Creek. They find the good grass and clover pasture program they are carrying out not only beneficial as a Conservation measure but also very profitable with a lot less work as the fine herd of good beef cattle one can see grazing on their farm give positive proof.

From two and one half acres of Alfalfa and three and one half acres of orchard grass and ladino clover, Wayne Ellege of Hay Meadow out 200 bates of hay this spring.

Youth Charged In Assault On Girl

Winston-Salem, June 26.—Police today held a 19-year-old negro on charges of rape and attempted murder of 17-year-old Betty Jane Clifton, but the girl, unconscious since the assault 10 days ago, was still unable to make any identification of her attacker.

Police said Clyde Brown had confessed to the brutal clubbing of the pretty high school girl, but denied raping her. Betty Jane was found behind a counter in her father's radio shop June 16, inhumanly beaten with the barrel and stock of a battered .22 caliber rifle.

Brown has been held for more than a week, officers said. They said he was arrested when they learned that he was the only other person, beside Betty Jane and her father, Thomas E. Clifton, who knew the hiding place of the rifle in the shop. Brown's account of his activities on the day of the attack contained "discrepancies," police said.

Mountain Needed!

Linville, N. C. — Crowd and traffic congested at the 26th Singing on the Mountain celebration Sunday at the base of Grandfather Mountain was so great that Governor Scott, who delivered the principal address, told Joe Hatley, who originated the event, that if it kept growing he'd need to add another mountain to provide space for all the people! Highway patrolmen estimated the number of visitors who came at one time or another during the day at 40,000. Last year the estimate was 25,000. Highway 221 west of Blowing Rock was lined all day with traffic moving in and out of the queue event.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

The Primary is over and again the Democrats of North Carolina have spoken in a free democracy

My heart is full of gratitude . . . Thank you for the magnificent vote which you gave me . . . Thank you for selecting me as your Democratic nominee for the United States Senate.

And now that our primary battle is over, let us all unite under the Democratic banner and go forward to victory in November.

The Democratic Party, as always, is the hope of America and the world.

As your Democratic nominee, I pledge to you that I shall always strive to preserve the free American institutions and the American way of life.

Together, the Democrats of North Carolina and of the nation will go forward to keep America progressive and sane. From the bottom of my heart I thank you.
