Local People Attend Charlotte Luncheon

Mrs. William C. Thompson, of Charlotte, entertained at a luncheon at her home in Charlotte Thursday honoring Miss Estelle Ardrey, of Pineville, and who is a librarian at the University of Florida. The honoree, a former librarian here in the North Wilkesboro public school, was visiting with relatives in Charlotte. The hostess, formerly Miss Janie McDiarmid, of North Wilkesboro, served a two course luncheon at one o'clock with covers laid for twelve. Most of the guests were from North Wilkesboro and included Mesdames C. E. Jenkins, J. C. Reins, Guy Lillard, Misses Ellen Robinson, Elizabeth Finley, Ruby Blackburn, Rebecca Mosely, Lillian and Mary Lindsay Stafford.

Woman's Bible Class Has Luncheon Meet

The members of the Woman's Bible class of the First Methodist church enjoyed a luncheon meeting on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. W. F. Gaddy in Finley Park. Mr. P. J. Brame, teacher of the class, offered the invocation for the luncheon. Mrs. Edd F. Gardner conducted a meditation period, and Mrs. Isaac Eller, Sr., was in charge of the business session. The luncheon closed a six month's contest in attendance at Sunday School — during which time Mrs. Gaddy and Mrs. C. B. Lomax served as leaders for the two groups. Leaders named for the next six months are Mrs. J. W. Allen and Mrs. W. E. Jones.

Mrs. Pearl Anderson T.E.L. Class Hostess

Mrs. Pearl Anderson was hostess to the members of the T.E.L. class of the First Baptist church in their monthly business and social meeting held Tuesday evening at her home on Corner of E and Seventh Streets. Mrs. Mattie Darlington led the devotions during which time each one present contributed with scripture verses and sentence prayers. Mrs. John Joines in the absence of the presiding chair during the business session, Mrs. J. T. Krbaugh, occupied sijn. Twelve members attended and were served refreshments during the social hour.

Ex Libris Club Met With Mrs. Ford

Ex Libris club members met with Mrs. James K. Ford at her home on F Street Friday afternoon. Mrs. Ford presided for a short business session, and gave as the program a review of "The Tale of Beatrix Potter," by Margaret Lane. Beatrix Potter is the author of Peter Rabbit and other children's books. At the close of the meeting tempting refreshments were served by the hostess.

Wey-Eversole Vows In Miami

St. Phillips Episcopal church was the setting of the two p. m. ceremony, Feb. 22, when Miss Gloria Miller Wey became the bride of Edwin Moore Eversole. The service was read by candle light. The bride, formerly of Purlear, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton M. Miller. The groom is the son of Mrs. Patricia Eversole, South Bayshore Drive, and the late Mr. Eversole. The bride wore a ballerina gown of white embossed organdy over blue taffeta, a matching hat, and carried a spray of white orchids.

and gardenias. Mrs. Jacqueline DeWees, matron of honor, wore a similar gown of organdy over pink taffeta, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Mr. Joel DeWees, fraternity brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The service was followed by a reception at Dallas Park Hotel, and the couple left for Havana, Cuba, on their honeymoon. The bride was wearing a navy suit and navy accessories and an orchid from her wedding bouquet. Mrs. Eversole is a graduate of Mt. Pleasant High School.

of Bel Air, Md., on Sunday afternoon, July 2nd. Rev. C. B. Kilby heard the vows at two o'clock, using the double ring ceremony, in a colorful setting arranged with the rose arbor as a background.

The bride given in marriage by her uncle, D. L. Church, wore a ballerina length gown of white organdy with embroidered sweetheart neckline and full gathered skirt, with a matching embroidered half bonnet and long guntlets. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid, and only ornament was a strand of pearls.

Miss Mildred Brown was maid of honor for her sister, and Woodrow Wallace, uncle of the groom, served as best man. The maid of honor was dressed in blue organdy designed similar to the bride's dress, and carried an old fashioned nosegay of pastel flowers.

When the couple left for their wedding trip, following the ceremony the bride was wearing a navy blue suit with white accessories, and the orchid from her Bible.

The bride was graduated from North Wilkesboro high school, Mars Hill College, and is a 1950 graduate of Appalachian State Teachers College at Boone. The room, a graduate of the Bel Air High School, and the United States Maritime Service Radio school in New York City, served our years in the Merchant Marine and one and a half years in the Army.
