

Buggaboo Club In Monthly Meeting

Our regular monthly meeting for June was held Tuesday, the 27th, in the home of Mrs. F. C. Anthony. Fifteen ladies were present on this hot, sultry afternoon. Our business discussions were attended to out in the open, where it was more comfortable.

A nominating committee was appointed to select members to be voted on for our new club officers at next meeting. All members are urged to be present. Bring shrubbery cuttings to be judged and identified. Also come prepared with a grab bag.

It was decided to send our club president to Raleigh for Farm and Home Week, July 31st to August 5th.

Mrs. Wesley Poplin was voted lady of the month by our club. A committee was appointed to write qualifications.

Each club in the county is expected to arrange a booth at our County Fair this fall.

A committee was appointed to arrange a Talent Show for our club to be given sometime in August.

Mrs. Greene gave a wonderful demonstration on "Eat to Control Your Weight" which was very timely and most interesting, as all her demonstrations are. Some helpful booklets were given out for us to determine how much of certain foods we should eat to consume our number of calories so as not to grow thin or become overweight. Most of us have a tendency to eat too much of the fattening foods. We can readily see Mrs. Greene has been practicing what she teaches us through her demonstrations and is a fair

Soil Conservation In Wilkes

By R. E. DUNN and JASPER G. CHIPMAN

Mr. Worth Tomlinson recently had the personnel of the Wilkes county work unit of the Tri-Creek Soil Conservation Service assist his farm manager, in laying out two terraces to divert the water from a draw that was taking some damage from erosion in the past hard rains. This job was done on the Tomlinson farm near Millers Creek as a temporary measure to take care of a field of Sudan grass used for temporary grazing. The field will later be sown in permanent grass and clover which will control the erosion and make the terraces no longer necessary.

Mr. Lloyd Phillips of Moravian Falls is demonstrating the fact that with good treatment you can grow good pasture under almost any condition. Despite the dry weather in that particular community Mr. Phillips has some very excellent Ladino Clover and grass pasture. This pasture which can be seen on the old Phillips home place out beyond Boomer school is growing on land that without good treatment would have to be used only for timber.

Mr. John Harris who lives just south of Wilkesboro recently had terrace lines staked on a field he had cleared for pasture. Mr. Harris plans to develop his farm into a good cattle farm.

Cattle are grazing well on pasture reseeded this spring on the farm of Mr. John C. Alexander along the Hays and North Wilkesboro road. Mr. Alexander says that in addition to a good coat of chicken litter he used a high treatment of lime, phosphate and high potash fertilizer. This shows that pasture will produce a lot earlier with good treatment.

Runner-up honors were shared by Guy Ellison, Route 3, Durham, and John D. Robinson, Route 1, Monroe, both of whom made scores above 95.

Hooper has five acres of alfalfa and follows a four-year rotation of red clover, corn and small grain, all in strips. The Rockingham County farmer is now constructing a Grade A dairy farm. He gets hay for his cows from his alfalfa and red clover and from three acres of meadow strips. All of his crops are in good condition at present.

Judges were Doggett, E. C. Jernigan, assistant State soil conservationist, and S. J. Hodges, Negro extension agronomy specialist.

Rockingham Farmer Wins Soil Contest

Winner of the North Carolina Negro soil conservation contest for 1950 is James Hooper of Reidsville, who scored 98.61 points out of a possible 100 to take first place. It was announced this week by J. Frank Doggett, soil conservationist for the State College Extension Service.

Hooper will receive a cash prize of $100 and will be eligible to compete in the South-wide contest for an additional prize of $50.

Example of keeping her youthful appearance. It surely has taken lots of will power and self control to avoid eating some of the tempting refreshments served by some of our most generous hostesses.

At our recreational period Mrs. Wesley Poplin gave the best household hint and received a reward.

Several books had been read and were turned in or exchanged. The next monthly meeting is to be in the home of Mrs. J. L. Jordan Tuesday, July 25th, at 2 p. m.

The hostess served refreshments at close of the meeting. (Reported by Mrs. C. R. Byrd).
