Wilkes County Welfare Board Meeting Held

The Wilkes County Welfare Board met in regular session in the welfare office on July 25. Charles C. McNeill, secretary to the board, reported that for three consecutive months the expenditures of the department for public assistance showed a decrease over the previous month. This decrease is due to the fact that before the end of the last fiscal year the welfare board realized that at the rates effective, the county would exceed allotment for the year and as a result, the Board ordered that a systematic plan for reducing grants be inaugurated so that the department could stay within the funds allotted. Even with this reduction the county exceeded the Old Age Assistance fund. The secretary advised the board that the department is now within a few dollars of the 1950-51 allotments for both old age assistance and aid to dependent children. At the request of the welfare board the county commissioners had increased appropriation for age assistance and aid to dependent children for the fiscal year; however, state funds are not available to match the county funds and unless the governor and council of state allot additional state funds, it will probably be necessary to reduce old age assistance and aid to dependent children grants more in order to provide for new cases which will be approved from month to month.

Mr. McNeill reported to the board that the overall expenditures for the month of July totaled $4,678.00, which was $456.00 less than the expenditures for the month of June. A breakdown of these figures revealed 1,280 people received old age assistance in the amount of $23,724.00 making an average monthly grant of $18.53. The next largest expenditure was made to 461 aid to dependent children families representing 1244 children of $16,666.00 or an average per child of $13.40 per month. Forty seven individuals received aid to the blind in the amount of $1,475.00 giving an average monthly payment of $3.140. Other expenditures including general assistance, medical expenses, hospitalization, boarding home care, etc., were given to 217 at a total cost of $1,813.00.

The secretary reported to the board that there had been some additions to the staff since last meeting. Miss Grace Hayes had been given an emergency appointment as case worker assistant for 30 days in order to help clear up some pending old age assistance applications. The board was advised that Miss Hayes was formerly Superintendent of Public Welfare in Virginia and that she would only be available for work here in the county for a few weeks during the summer. She expects to return to her work as visiting teacher with the school system sometime the middle of August. The board was also advised that Miss Margaret Anne Hutchens had been appointed as Junior Stenographer Clerk effective July 17, 1950. This appointment was to fill the new position which was provided for in the new budget. Miss Nancy Lisenbee, of Marshall, has been employed as case work trainee and will enter upon her duties August 1, 1950. Miss Lisenbee is a graduate of Berea College in Kentucky and will take over the position now filled by Miss Clara Ogiyie, who has been granted educational leave to secure further training at the University of North Carolina. The board was advised that even with these new appointments, the Welfare department would still be considerably understaffed based on the large case load carried in this county. The board was also advised that some additional office equipment would be needed and authorization was given to purchase needed equipment.

The members of the Welfare Board are Dr. P. J. Brame, chairman; Hoyle M. Hutchens and M. F. Absher. Mr. Absher was not present for the July meeting.
