CITY VISITS.

Two more Sundays—then Easter.

The Legislature meets Monday next.

To-morrow will be the fifth Sunday in Lent.

Mr. W. H. Ellis is confined to his room by sickness.

Go to the Minstrels Monday night at Metropolitan Hall.

The health of the prisoners at the penitentiary is very good.

Coming soon—plenty of garden products and green fruit.

Ford's Dramatic troupe will be in Raleigh about the first of April.

According to the almanac makers, we will have rain till next Thursday.

Sunday School begins at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning at the different churches.

Col. Wm. Johnston of Charlotte, father-in-law, of Col. A. B. Andrews, is in the city.

Mrs. J. P. Hayes left yesterday morning for Norfolk to visit her parents, in that city.

Read the advertisement of a second had safe wanted. Address Lock box 213, Raleigh.

All the churches will be open to-morrow, and you will have ample opportunity to go and do better.

We are pleased to hear business men generally throughout the city unite in saying that business is better than ever.

Remember that Baird's New Orleans Minstrels will appear at Metropolitan Hall Monday night. Have you secured your tickets?

Services at Person Street M. E. Church to-morrow at 11 a. m. and 7 1/2 p. m., by the pastor Rev. Thomas W. Smith. Sunday School at 9 1/2 a. m.

Lucy says there is cotton in the ears of man and hope in the bosom of woman. Lucy made a mistake and got the cotton in the wrong place.

Our City Fathers should put down a stone walk at the crossing of Blount and Martin streets, the cotton square. It is almost impassable in wet weather.

You can get saddles, bridles and harness of all kinds, and in fact, everything in that line at Messrs. E. F. Wyatt & Sons on Martin Street, at very reasonable prices. Call and see them.

Our Polly Ann says very few men have the slightest idea how to hold a baby. And we don't suppose one in a hundred have the slightest desire to hold one.

Gorgeous linings are placed in youth's hats.

Gray mouse and yolk of eggs are fanciful new fashion hues.

The making of antique furniture is one of the profitable trades.

The decadence of the button is noted by the Paris fashion writers.

Pale blue heliotrope and mulberry combine prettily in an attire.

The slovenly dressmaker is the most terrible seam monster, the ladies think.

A small sewing machine steam engine that you hang up like a bracket is out.

Broad stripes and loud checks are seen in the latest of the late English trousers.

The way to gain a good reputation is to endeavor to be what you desire to appear.

Everybody laughs about a boil excepting the man who furnishes it a lodging place.

The man who prevaricates never utters a falsehood, but he tells about fifty per cent. of a lie.

"Fifteen ball poll" is rather a fashionable game, but it is nothing to be "fifteen block fool."

Homely people generally dress the best, but they have to make up in store clothes what they lack in natural good looks.

Sixty two convicts are at work on the Chapel Hill and University railroad. We are glad to hear that work on this road is progressing rapidly and satisfactorily.

The woman who buy twice as much sugar as has been her wont expecting an advance in price, is just as much a speculator as the man who buys stocks for a rise.

Lots of young men will present a girl with a $5 bouquet when her shoes are all run over and she is in sad need of a new pair. The young have no judgment.

It is said that the fashionable spring bonnets will contain a hole on the top for the wearer who has an itching scalp to stick her finger through and scratch it.

Cold piercing winds and driving rains seldom fail to bring on a cough, cold or hoarseness at this season, and Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup should be kept in every house. For sale by all druggists.

Mr. W. H. Hicks has opened a grocery store on Blount street and we learn is getting a good trade. Patronize him he will do as good by you as any grocery man in the city, and you will always find him polite and accommodating.

We learn that several of the penitentiary "birds" are at work at the Insane Asylum, under the supervision of Mr. Moore, the Steward, arranging the gardens, &c. Perhaps it is not generally known, but it is nevertheless true, that this institution raises all its vegetables. There is no institution anywhere that is run on a more economical plan, and that has two better or more efficient officers than Dr. Grissom and J.

H. Moore, Esq. They are the "right men in the right place."

Longfellow looks upon Sunday as "the golden clasp that binds together the volumes of the week;" but to one who never indulges in romantic lights of imagination it is simply an ecstatic season, when you can lie a bed late in the morning, and have something extra for dinner.

The following pathetic note was picked up on Fayetteville St. this morning:—"My Dear Susie—I hope you ain't mad because I didn't laff at you when you lafft at me yesterday at the post office. I ain't proud, dear Susie, but I've got a bile under my arm, and I can't laff as I used to. Yours truly—James."

Capt. Brooks, of the firm of Pritchard & Brooks, has resumed his residence to the house formerly occupied by Mrs. Andrews, on Hillsboro street, where he will be pleased to have his friends call.

WARREN STILL AHEAD.—At the recent dime party given by the members of the Presbyterian church of this city, one of Warren's fairest daughters was in attendance, and was the recipient of thirteen beautiful bouquets, and it wasn't a good night for bouquets, either.

Retribution.

The U. S. Senate in executive session rejected the nomination of Gen. John McNeil, of St. Louis, as United States Marshal for the Eastern district of Missouri. Gen. McNeil's rejection was affected by the very decisive vote of 32 nays to 7 yeas. This action was based upon an adverse report from the Judiciary Committee, accompanied by a statement to the effect that Gen. McNeil, in the year 1862, while in command of United States troops at Palmyra Mo., ordered the execution of eleven citizens of that neighborhood, who had been arrested but not tied, on a general charge of "bush whacking," and did execute ten of them without trial as a measure of so called retaliation for the alleged abduction and supposed murder of a Union man in the same county. McNeil's orders required the execution of these prisoners if the missing Unionist was not returned within a certain period, and as nothing was heard from the latter, the orders were carried into effect by McNeil's provost marshal upon the designated day. It was also stated by members of the Indian Committee in the executive session, the life of the eleventh prisoner was spared by the provost marshal upon an enforced condition that the honor of the farmer's wife should be the price of her husband's release, and that Gen. McNeil continued the same provost marshal in service under him after the disgraceful facts became known. Gen. McNeil early in the administration of President Hays, was appointed to the position of Indian Inspector, and still holds the office.

The fact that two women are now on trial in Ohio for poisoning their husbands is not a first class leap year argument.

Now, a long piece of string, with a kite at one end and a small boy at the other, will have its day.

The quality of mercy is not stained, and for that reason the milk of human kindness should not be skimmed.

Stronach & Belo have on hand—eggs, butter, unpeeled dried peaches, white peas, stock peas, white beans, striped beans, white Mercer Irish potatoes, &c. &c. Parties in need of above articles would do well to call on them. mh13-tf.

A LIVE HOUSE AND A LIVE MAN.—A. Creech, Jobber and Retail Dealer of Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods, is the live man of our city. He does a large, active retail business and has jobbed more goods for the last five years than any two houses in the city. Country merchants, as well as everybody else, that want to buy goods, go to A. CREECH'S. March 12th, 1880. 1w.
