

THE OLD NORTH STATE

Friday Evening, June 1, 1866.

LEWIS HANES & J. S. HAMPTON, PUBLISHERS & PROPRIETORS.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

"A PESTILENT SET OF KNAVES." The New York Times has a correspondent at Augusta Ga., who volunteers to tell the truth. Here is an extract from one of his late letters:

"No little mischief is being done by men who are infesting the State at present in the capacity of 'friends of the freedmen,' founders of colored savings banks, colored seminaries, equal rights Journals, and other kindred enterprises. These men are working diligently to make the negro discontented with his condition, to persuade him that he is grossly wronged by the white man, and that he is entitled to a position of perfect social and political equality with the whites. There is a 'Captain Bryant' in this State, the self-constituted Head Center of an 'Equal Rights Association,' who is going about making speeches in this line and while he may be earning a very comfortable income at small expense, he is doing much harm to both races, as I have already frequently remarked that there was a general and perfectly honest disposition on the part of both the white man and the negro to live harmoniously together and work for each others good. So far from offering any obstacle to the education and improvement of the colored population, the people were ready and willing to promote them by every means in their power; and so far as the civil rights of the negroes were concerned, the Legislature recognized and secured them in the most effective manner, by placing them on the same footing with white men in everything relating to person and property. He is no friend to the negro who comes here now to induce him to agitate for more than he has got. His efforts, if successful, can only work serious injury to the whites, and surely result in the ruin of the blacks. These emissaries are nothing but cheaters & impostors, gathering into their pockets the postal currency of the poor blacks—walking gift enterprises, exchanging pinch-beck equal rights notions for the sweat-earned dollars of the gullible savages who desert their plows and hoes to listen to the white man who is going to make gentlemen and ladies of them all. I have watched the operations of these peripatetic philanthropists, and a more pleasant set of knaves I never met. They are a nuisance which ought to be speedily abated."
