MUSIC SCHOOL.

THE Subscriber respectfully informs the public, that he has, by engagement, located himself in Salisbory as a Teacher of Music. He will give instructions on the Plano, the Guitar. & in Singing. He intends no reflection on others, when he says that he finds the state of music in this part of the Country very imperfect. This he believes is not owing to want of musical tal-ents in the youth of the Country, but rather to defects in the systems of instruction. The Subsriber having been instructed by the ablest Masters in Germany, and music being not only his profession, but his study, and delight, he flatters himself if his pupils shall have talents, to be able to call them forth, and impart skill and taste in this most beautitul and much admired accomplishment:-- an accomplishment which not only elevates the mind but refines the feelings and improves the heart. Nature has not bestowed upon all equal talents for music no more than for any other of the arts & sciences. the Teacher cannot therefore make all equally proficient, but he promises to spare no labour in properly cultivating that share of talents with which each of his pupils may be gifted, and to Improve their tastes by making them acquainted with the most admired pieces of the best music composers.

His Terms of instruction are Thirty Dollars per Session. He will furnish the use of Instru ments to take lessons on

THE GRAND ACTION

Is one of the most important previation these Instruments, the superiority is evinced the regularity of the touch and the case w which passages in Music, requiring rapidity in execution are performed, and which, the scient fic musician will duly appreciate? Its super-ty of construction also, renders it much les in ble to get out of order at the same time built more easily rectified than the action generally used.
