From the St. Louis Revielle. LATER FROM SANTA FE. Arrival of the Traders-Gathering of Indians on the Plains-Mules, &c.

Mr. Samuel Trussdail arrived on Friday night, on the steamer Tamerlane, Germany is in a most disturbed condition. bringing with him the remains of Major Sam'l Hackelton, of the Illinois regiment, comerly speaker of the House of Reprepresentatives in Illinois. Mr. Trussdail company with forty Mexicans, with a train of fifteen or twenty wagons. In the town of San Miguel, where they passed a night, the party was robbed by Mexicans of a great many articles of small value, such as guns, blankets, &c. Amongst other articles stolen was a velvet pall which covered the coffin containing the remains of Major Hackelton. Complaints were lodged with the authorities of the town, and also with the priest, whom they found busily engaged at a monte table, but to no purpose. On reaching the Arkansas rivet the party encountered large encampments of the Cayuguas and Arapahoe .-The Indians stated that they had taken their position there in order to collect toll from the traders and emigrants who should pass over their territory. They said, moreover, that they expected a reinforcement daily from the Comanchese .-They were quite friendly, and received the little presents of tobacco, &c., with much thanks

The company met parties of Indians along the whole route, whose manifestations were all, however of the most friendly character. They met the mail on its way to Santa Fe, at Council Grove. This mail will be the first that will have reached Santa Fe for months. The company arrived at Independence in thirty days. The grass on the plains, Mr. T. states, was ve- place on the

The Military and Police finally gained for sale by possession of the ground, and cannon were planted, charge with grape shot, in front of the Theatre. The city was in an uptoar all Thursday night, and the Military vesterday morning, were throwing up entrenchments to resist any attempts that might be made by the mob to dislodge

Great excitement existed, and the mob tere hanging about the spot. It was rufored that Mr. Macready had been killd, but it was ascertained that he had esaned unhurt. A number of those who were killed and wounded were not entaged in the riot.

FURTHER OF THE N. Y. RIOT. It is said that up to three o'clock yesterday, twenty seven persons had been killed, and near santa Fe on the 18th of March, in ly one hundred wounded. The excitement was intense, and a further requisition on the military force had been made. The dwelling of the Mayor of the city, and other officials obnoxious to the populace, were in danger of being sacked. The excitement against the military, who were engaged in repressing the riot was intense, and it was feared that the consequences would be of the most disastrous character.

The latest communication received, bringing intelligence down to 6 o'clock last evening, states that more military companies have been ordered out, and more blood shed anticipated in the course of the night.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

Our despatch states that Corron and BREAD STUFFS were held at an advance in price, but no sales. The tremendous excitement had doubtless prevented transactions.

The Legislature of Massachusetts have unanimously passed resolutions inviting President Taylor to visit that State, and have appointed a committee, composed of both houses, to make suitable arrangements for his reception.
