ents of partizan presses on either side are correct. The point at issue is, whether Rey was abducted by orders of the Spanish Government or by their agents hout due anthority? One fact it certain, that, if Rey was abducted, his body has been returned uninjurand he is held to prove, before proper judicial tribunals, under what circumstances he was taken away.-Thus far all reparation for the wrong done has been made. We agree to the doctrine, in its fullest extent, that a foreigner who sacks our land for a residence, obeys our laws and conforms to our institutions, is as much en-titled to our protection as he who first drew breath on our soil. While, then, we think this abduction, if provell to be one, a national insult, we are not in a hurry to plunge the country into a war on account of it, any more than we are to do so with the British Government, when, w its interference, it sets certain " Southern property " free, or as hasty naval officers arrest our merchantme on the ceast of Africa. There a temperance of conduct comportable with true dignity, as well to be observof among nations as between individuals; and when we barn that redress for this outrage has not been demandol or demanded has not been made, then we shall be as ready as the most violent of our opponents to ask " why this most heinous of crimes has been allowed to slumber gaatoned for and unavenged."

As at present advised, we can see nothing but a captious, queralous disposition, that complains that on this We pass now to the "difficulty with the French Go-

The tone the opposition presses would have been changed if hay had known only as much of the matter now as they good have known when the Minister addressed his secould insulting note to the Secretary of State. The same love of the honor of the country would have prompted them to have complained of the want of courage of Mr. Clayton. The same spirit which now complains of the Secretary's " pompous courtesy " would have clamand for an immediate declaration of war against the offeeding country. The course of the Cabinet shows that, wills they expect to be treated with the dignity due to the representatives of a great nation, they are not desirous of bringing the horrors of war on its peaceably dis-The obnoxious Minister has been dismissand the harmony existing between two great nations has not been, and is not likely to be, disturbed. POLYMATHEAN INSTITUTE

YOUNG LADIES

THE MISSES BURNS. Formerly of Philadelphia, and recently of Baltimore, Proprietors,

HIS Institution purposes commencing operation in Salisbury, Powan County, N. Carolina, September

The Pantographic Method of Teaching, which originated in this Institution, is eminently calculated to make learning a pleasant employment to young ladies. The great variety of interesting and amusing illustrations made use of lends interest to many studies which are usually regarded by young persons as dry and insipid.

"Sounds which address the ear are lost, and die In one short hour; but that which strikes the eye, Lives long upon the mind; the faithful sight Engraves the knowledge with a beam of light."

Young ladies are taught in small classes, and the whole attention of a teacher is given to one class,-the gradual development of the youthful mind is watched with much care, and throughout the course, the studies of the pupil are carefully adapted to her mental capacity and progress; but the peculiarity of this method of teaching is in the happy manner in which the different branches of study are illustrated.

Pupils will be received at a very early age; and the Course of Instruction will be far more thorough and complete than that of any school conducted in the ordinary way can be.

Terms and Sessions. The scholastic year is divided into two sessions of five months each, commencing 1st September and 1st February. The only vacation is in the months of July and August.
