But moss and ivy, never see, Bedeck it o'er from year to year. The dam is steep, and weeded green; The gates are raised, the waters pour, And tread the old wheel's slippery steps, The lowest round forevermore; Methinks they have a sound of ire,

Because they cannot climb it higher. From morn till night, in autumn time, When yellow harvests load the plains, Up drive the farmers to the mill, And back anon, with loaded wains; They bring a wealth of golden grain, And take it home in meal again.

The mill inside is dim and dark, But peeping in the open door You see the miller flitting round, And dusty bags along the floor; And by the shaft, and down the spout, The vellow meal comes pouring out. And all day long the winnowed chaff Floats round it on the sultry breeze, And shineth like a setting swarm

Of golden-winged and belted bees; Or sparks around a blacksmith's door, When bellows blow and forges roar. I love our pleasant, quaint old mill! It minds me of my early prime;

Tis shanged since then, but not so much As I am, by decay and time; Its wrecks are mossed from year to year, But mine all dark and bare appear. I stand beside the stream of life;

The mighty current sweeps along ; Lifting the flood-gates of my heart, It turns the magic wheel of song. And grinds the ripened harvest brought From out the golden field of Thought.

The following appeal to the Common School Teachers is from a gentleman whose life has been devoted to the instruction of youth, and who possesses a education to the perpetuation, improvement and glory of our free institutions.

From the Greensborough Patriot.

Who will hear his report? How many Teachers will take encouragement from his exhortation, and determine henceforth to elevate the standard of their arduous and honorable Profession? The grand idea of associated action in this class be have the true glory of the State and the happy progress of the race at heart. in Guilford will result in a great end.

TO THE TEACHERS OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF NORTH CAROLINA.

with our children, with their character, splendidly, and nearly all the learning that controls the election of county, State and National agents: Not one voter in five hundred goes to college. As individuals, confined to unseen labor, you are weak; but uni ted in one great and public occupation, you are strong, more useful, better rewarded and more honored. No period, no year in our colonial or State history is like the present so auspicious for organizing yourselves into County Associations for your personal improvement, and for aff the great inferest of the Schools. The whole people are in motion for improvement. Let the Judges in open court give notice of your first meeting you will soon elect delegates to form a state Convention of Teachers. Concert is every thing .-Nothing so requires system and public sentiment as the education of a great and free people.

The appointment by the Legislature of a Superintendent of Common Schools, to visit every county and combine the whole people, and to, make the public money accomplish ten times its present good, to do for North Carolina all that Horace Mann has done for Massachusetts,-detion, both for its adoption and success .-Guided by such a leader, effort and improvement will have no limit. Our State will then be in a position to establish, on the line of her great central railroad, the cheapest, the most needed of all her institutions, a Normal School - a seminary to educate virtuous young men and women in the art and science of conducting schools. None so well understand its importaitee as yourselves. Were it now in operation, hundreds of you would gladly there increase your experience and skill. Explore all its bearings, and let defects only double your efforts, till those who succeed you enjoy its light.

Let the maxim of a great writer on jurisprudence be your own:-"Every man owes something to his Profession." Associated, you form a Profession-the most learned and liberal of all secular professions. Thus organized, you will promote every element of our civilization. Wrisustained by your best pupils.

Let Editors not only publish this most respectful appeal, but also with a home solicitude and patriotic zeal, take the cause under their editorial care.

Good Pickings for the Lawyers .- The Asheville Messenger mentions that on the Docket of Buncombe Superior Court, at its late Term, there were 197 Civil and over 60 State Cases. Judge Ellis succeeded up to 11 o'clock on Saturday night, in disposing of about 30 of the former, and mearly all of the latter, including one of manslaughter, one of rape and two of propriate sentences.

DAMMING CONNECTICUT RIVER.

From the Springfield Republican of Tuesday. Closing of the Dam at the New City .- The event anticipated with so much interest by all in this vicinity, and by multitudes in distant portions of this and the adjoining States took place yesterday. The dam was closed at twenly two minutes before one welock in the af-

There were forty four gates, each righteen 1, 1849. feet long and sixteen feet wide. Alternate sections of these were closed at a given signal by means of levers. They went down with an al. most simultaneous plunge. Very soon the others followed in the same order, and the Connecticut river was declared damnied. The water rose more slowly than was generally anticipated. At half-past two the water was rising at the rate of one foot in forty minutes.

Almost immediately after the closing of the gates the rocky bed of the river below was left dry, and the workmen on the dam, with many of the spectators, rushed in to make discoveries. Many of the tools lost in the water while constructing the dam were found, and some that were quite valuable. The fish, eels, &c. that were left without a sufficient covering of the watery element, were taken out by the hand in quantities.

The dam is upon an average thirty feet in height from the bed of the river; in some places more and in some places less, according to the inequalities in the river's bed. A rough calculation of the amount of lateral pressure which the dam will be obliged to sustain gives nearly twenty nine million pounds, while the vertical pressure is about three times that amount .-There have been used in its construction nearly four million feet of lumber.

In the construction of the abutment, guardgates, and lockwall, at the head of the canal. there have been used 10.000 perches of stone, The measure is by what is termed "railread perch," each perch containing twenty five cubic feet. The dam is 800 feet long, and the slope from the top to the bed of the river 90 session. feet. The dam leaks a little, and but a little -not so much as the one which went off last year. This is considered no fault, as a sufficient leak is necessary to keep all the timbers of the dam bathed in water, to prevent rot. If it does not leak enough for this, it will be made to leak more by boaring holes through it.

The magnitude of the work, and the immense results which will ultimately flow from it, constitute the peculiar charm which is atfull sense of the importance of popular tached to it by many minds. The structure. of the society of Morganton, enable this institution to however, considered alone, is a legitimate object of interest and admiration. There has not been a stone placed nor a timber laid but what has been adjusted upon scientific principles, and the faithful and critical manner in which it has been reared to its completion is and will be a lasting credit to the engineer, Mr. Anderson and the contractors and mechanics under him.

At 7 o'clock last evening the water had fall. gins to be developed among many who en about five feet in the rver at Cabotville, and opposite Springfield between three and four feet, with scarcely a perceptible corrent. there life, intelligence, energy enough a At six minutes before ten o'clock the dam was mong our teachers to carry it out? The scene during the evening was quite enchanting. Bonfires were lighted on both banks of the river, and in its I address you, gentlemen, as entrusted bed below the dam, lighting up all around

ANOTHER BURIED CITY.

At a late meeting of the Ethnological Society in New York last week, an interesting letter was read from Hon. E. G. Squier, our Charge des Affairs at Guatamala, who has already commenced his antiquarian researches, and forwarded several curious relics to Washington. He gives an account of the recent discovery of an ancient city buried beneath the forest about 150 miles from Leon, which far surpasses the architectural wonders of Palenque. There are evidently hidden cities upon the western continent far exceeding in size and the grandeur of their monuments the revelations of Herculane um and Pompeii. We anticipate, says the Mirror, the most astounding discoveries from the ethnological enthusiasm of Mr. Squier. POLYMATHEAN INSTITUTE YOUNG LADIES.

THE MISSES BURNS,

Formerly of Philadelphia, and recently of Baltimore, Constable Proprietors.

HIS Institution purposes commencing operation in . Salisbury, Powan County, N. Carolina, September | Bail (Civil

The Pantographic Method of Teaching, which originated in this Institution, is eminently calculated to make learning a pleasant employment to young ladies. The great variety of interesting and amusing illustrations. made use of, lends interest to many studies which are usually regarded by young persons as dry and insipid.

"Sounds which address the ear are lost, and die In one short hour; but that which strikes the eye, Lives long upon the mind; the faithful sight Engraves the knowledge with a beam of light."

Young ladies are taught in small classes, and the whole attention of a teacher is given to one class,-the gradual development of the youthful mind is watched with much care, and throughout the course, the studies of the pupil are carefully adapted to her mental capacity and progress; but the peculiarity of this method of teaching is in the happy manner in which the different branches of study are illustrated.

Pupils will be received at a very early age; and the Course of Instruction will be far more thorough and complete than that of any school conducted in the ordinary way can be.
