THE BEAUTIFUL MANIAC.

" The fire that in my bosom burns, Is lone as some volcanic isle."

In the morning train from Petersburg, Virginia, there was a lady closely veiled, in the same car with ourselves. She was bracelets, and evidently belonged to the higher circles of society. Her figure was delicate, though well developed, and exquisitely symmetrical; and when she ocensionally drew aside her richly embroidered veil, the glimpse of her features. which the beholder obtained, satisfied him of her extreme loveliness. Beside her sat a gentleman in deep mourning, who watch ed over her with unusual solicitude, and several time when she attempted to rise, he exicited the coriosity of the passengers by detaining her in her seat. Outside the car, all was confusion; passengers looked to their baggage, porters running, cabmen rushing, and all the unusual, hurry and bustle attending the departure of a railroad train. One shrill warning whistle from the engine, and we moved slowly away.

At the first motion of the car, the lady in white started to her feet with one beart. piereing scream, and her bonnet falling off disclosed the most levely, and yet most unhappy features we ever contemplated. Her raven tresses fell over her shoulders in graceful, disorder, and clasping her hands in prayer, she turned her dark eyes angel ! to heaven! What agony was in that look! what beauty too, what heavenly beauty, had not so much of misery been stamped upon it. Alas! that one glance told a melancholy tale.

-she was changed As by the sickness of the soul; her mind Had wandered from its dwelling, and her eyes They had not their own lustre, but the look Which is not of the earth; she has become The queen of a fantastic realm."

Her brother, the gentleman in black, was unremitting in his efforts to soothe her spirit. He led her back to her seat ; but her bair was still unbound, and her beauty weiled. The cars rattled on, and ters in groups resumed their . Suddenly a wild melody conver as the beautiful maniac's voice. Brose : nd inimitable. Her hands rich, sed on her heaving bosom, and Were pathos: touc from the land where her young hero sleeps, And the around her are signing.

But coldly she turns found their gaze and weeps,

'She sings the wild songs of her dear native plains, Every note which he loved awakening -Ah little they think who delight in the strains, How the heart of the minstrel is breaking?

Her brother was unmanned, and he wept as only men can weep. The air changed, and she continued,

'Has sorrow thy young days shaded

As clouds o'er the morning theet ?.. Too fast have those young days faded, That ever in sorrow were sweet ! If thus the unkind world wither, Each feeting that once was dear ; Come, child of misfortune, come hither, I'll weep with thee, tear for tear." She then song a fragment of the beautiful hymn:

Jesus, lover of my soul, Let me to thy bosom fly.

Another attempt to rise was prevented, and she threw herself on her knees beside her brother, and gave him such a mournfol entreating look, with a plaintive, Save me, my brother ! save your sister,' that searcely a passenger could refrain from Black; Charlotte, E-lward Sill; Statesville, Morrison, weeping.

Again the poor benighted beauty raised her be witching voice to one of the most solemn sacred airs:

'Oh where shall rest be found, Rest for the weary soul ?

and continued her melancholy chaunt un til we reached the steamer Mount Vermont, on board of which we descended the James river; the unhappy brother and sister occupying the ladies cabin. -His was a serrow too protound for ordinary consolation; and no one dared to in trude so far upon his grief as to satisfy his curiosity.

'I WANT TO BE AN ANGEL.'

A child sat in the door of a cottage at the close of a summer Sabbath. The twilight was fading, and as the shades of evening darkened, one after another of the stars shone in the sky, and looked down on the child in his thoughtful mood. He was looking up at the stars and counting them as they came, till they were too many to be counted, and bis eyes wandered all over the heavens, watching the bright world above. He was so absorbed, that his mother called to him and said :

'My son, what are you thinking of?' He started is if suddenly aroused from sleep, and answered-

· I was thinking

' Yes,' said his mother, I know you and see. were thinking, but what were you thinking of ?"

'Oh,' said he, and his little eyes sparkled with the thought, I WANT TO BE AN ANGEL.

'And why, my son, would you be an ange! ?

· Heaven is up there, is it not mother !" and there the angels live, and love God, rust dealers. Repairing done in a nest manner, and dressed in the purest white, wore golden and are happy; I do wish I was good, and God would take me there, and let me wait hi on him forever.

The mother called him to her knee, and he leaned on her bosom and wept. She wept too, and smoothed the soft hair of his head as he stood there, and kissed his forehead, and then told him that if he would give his heart to God, now while he was young, that the Savior would forgive all his sins, and take him up to heaven when he died, and then he would be with God forever.

His young heart was conformed. He knelt at his mother's side and said :-

'Jesus, Savior, Son of God, Wash me in thy precious blood; I thy little lamb would be. Help me, Lard, to look to thee.

The mother took the young child to her chamber, and soon he was asleep, dreaming perhaps of angels and of heaven.

A few months afterwards sickness was on him, and the light of that cottage, and the joy of that mother's heart went out. He breathed his last in her arms, and as her ear:

'I am going to be an angel.'

WHO IS SO BASE?

COUNTERFEIT article of the celebrated Jew A David's or Hebrew Plaster has been put up, and because a lew more cents may be made by selling it, some men are so lost to all the redeeming traits of homanny, that they will impose the worthless stuff upon their suffering fellow citizens. Without being so personal as to answer the question at the head of this card, we will only may that such men are among you! The Base imitation is for sale in Salisbury! and other places. Beware of it.

From every City or Town where Jew d her body as she sung with David's, or Hebrew Plaster, has been introduced the most gratifying intelligence of its excellent effects have been received. In hundreds of instances it has triumphed after all other remedies had been used

Read the following testimony from a Physician. GENTLEMEN-Your Hebrew Plaster has cured me of pains of which I have suffered for twelve years past. During this period I labored under an affliction of my ions and side, and tried many remedies that my own medical experience suggested, but without obtaining relief. At length I used your Piaster, and am now by is good effects entirely cured. I will recommend the Jew David or Hebrew Plaster to all who are suffering from contraction of muscles, or permanent pains in the The people of Georgia have but to become acquaint-led with its virtues when they will resort to its use. Yours, truly, M. W. WALKER, M. D.;

Foreythe, Monroe County, Ga. To Messrs. Scovil & Mead, New Orleans, La. This article is a compound preparation, composed principally of vegetable oils, combined with a rosmous um obtained from a tree found in the mountains of haiy. It was first discovered by a gentleman who was traveling for his health in 1830. Since its introduction, every other plaster, salve, or orginient, have been descarded as useless, by all who have had the pleasure of lesting the superior virtues of Jew David's or Hebrew Plaster for pains and weakness in the back, breast, or limbs; bruises, sprains, Sec.; and for asthmetic uffections,-will, in most cases, give immediate and permanent relief.
