

Carolina Watchman.

SALISBURY, N. C.
TUESDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 18, 1890.

Religious Notice.
The Rev. James D. Moore, of Smith's Church, is to hold a service at 7 P. M.

PUBLIC MEETING—POSTPONEMENT.
Owing to the inclemency of the weather on Saturday last, the public meeting advertised for that day was postponed to Monday evening, Dec. 19, 1890.

This is designed to be a meeting for all the friends of Home County who feel an interest in the public peace, property and happiness of the County. Come together, fellow-citizens, and join to count on that day. Your country and all that you love are at stake; and it will be profitable for you to meet and talk over the matter and determine what is best for you as a people to do. We have a common interest and a common destiny, and it is the duty of every man for himself and his children to look earnestly at the course of events now transpiring upon us, as they relate to our national condition. We are in a state of national emergency, and under the guidance of wisdom and righteousness, let nothing be done in haste, for the occasion is one of immense gravity; and it were better to act at all than to act and then retract that action. We have a great duty to perform, and it should be done in a measure to reflect credit upon our names when we are all dead, and gone forever from these scenes of human affairs.

HANDSOME COMPLIMENT.
Some of the young gentlemen of this place, entering a high appreciation of the pastoral labors of the Rev. Mr. Garrison, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, presented him, on Saturday, a handsome service of glass. It was a well-deserved compliment, and reflects credit on both parties. No minister of any denomination has, from his position, done in pointing out and denouncing the sins of young men, and in warning them to flee the wrath to come. Whether these young gentlemen were to express, they have made themselves witnesses to the fidelity of the faithful servant of God.

Mr. Garrison has endeavored himself to our people generally, and will carry with him to his field of labor in Wisconsin, the affectionate regard of our community.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.
The present of money to be used in building a Methodist Church, South, in Washington, City, D. C., or for some other object in Virginia, was found in our church on 12 o'clock, Monday night, having been sent, partly by money order, and partly by check, for the amount of $100.00. It was discovered that it was not the money of our church, but that it was the money of some other church, and that it was not the money of our church, but that it was the money of some other church.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM AN OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENT.
Salisbury, Dec. 18, 1890.

The Committee on Federal relations have reported, the majority recommending the election on the 7th of February, of delegates to a Convention to meet on the 14th of the same month. The minority of the Committee consisting of O'Hara, McNamee and Nowley, are opposed to calling a Convention at an intermediate session of the year, and for reasons assigned in their report which you will see, among which is objection to the bill on the ground that it does not state the true share of the members. Such is the determination of the majority here to go before the people that they have called a Convention, and they wish to call a Convention, so that this good old State may be represented out of the Union before the 4th of March.

Mr. Marshall made a strong speech to-day on Brown's revolution. His argument was irresistible against the constitutional right of secession. It was replied and Marshall rejoined. The subject is open for tomorrow.

The House has postponed the consideration of the report on Federal Relations until 1st of January.

SOUND SENSE.
We make the following extract from a long article in the Richmond Dispatch:

It is not our purpose at present to enter into any elaboration of our views in reference to the pending crisis, but only to hint at them in a very brief manner. In the first place, that we are for establishing all national and honorable expedients for obtaining a return of Southern grace in the Union, before taking up our hat and walking out of the Union. To this end we are for a State Convention—for a Convention of the Southern States—and for a general Convention of all the States. And if, through the instrumentality of these various Conventions, we cannot effect an adjustment of the differences and difficulties existing between the North and the South, that we are in favor, not of secession, but of a separation upon fair and just terms, to be arranged by the elected Conventions of all the States.

In the terms of separation, if an adjustment can be had and separation itself comes, we shall demand a fair and equitable division of all the property of the United States, including, of course, the South's just proportion of the army and navy. If such division of the United States, including likewise the public domain, should be refused as by the Northern States, then we shall be in favor of neither of these courses, nor of possible separation, but of immediate war, and war to the hilt, and that war to the "last end."

Such is our program, and such our policy, in general terms, and such we trust, for the programs and policy of Virginia and all the people of Virginia, and also of all the Southern States, without exception. As to the thing now called possible secession—such secession in South Carolina and other Southern States are now preparing for—we consider it unworthy and cowardly in the highest degree. Instead of involving a demand for and a defense of our rights, it is a running away from our rights, and running away from duty, and running away from responsibility. It is a remedy for nothing—it is a loss of honor, and it yet our entire Nation of the extreme South, and yet our parts in our own and other Southern States, seem to consider if a great point gained—a mighty triumph achieved—if they can only be grossly deceived by the North to possibly succeed, leaving all their valuable rights in the army and the navy and the public property behind them! As for our country, we are in favor of no such separation, but of a separation upon fair and just terms, to be arranged by the elected Conventions of all the States.

Economy is Wealth.
