Our University .- The annual commencement of this institution took place on Thursday the 23d ultimo; and we are happy in having it in our power to affirm, that early on the next morning. His or facilities in the power of the of the kind to pass off with more we have never known an occasion credit, both to officers and students. The exercises antecedent to commencement day, which consisted of declamations from select members of the lower classes, began on Monday afternoon and were continued on each successive evening until Thursday, which is the day set apart by the laws of the University for the purpose of conferring degrees on the students and Alumni of the institu-

Wednesday was the day for the annual address before the two Literary Societies. The Orator selected for that occasion was the Hon. Henry L. Pinckney, of S. thropic Society, by which he had been chosen, with a request that some suitable person might be appointed to read it before the audience. The President of the University, Ex-Governor Swain, was accordingly selected to read the Address, which he did in the most emphatic and impressive manner.

It is unnecessary for us at this time to say any thing as to the merits or demerits of the production, as it will soon be spread before the world, when every one will have an opportunity of read ing and judging for himself. We deem it but justice to the author, however, to say, that it was listened to with mar'ed attention and received with general ap plause by a crowded and intelli gent audience. We also deem it but sheer justice to the now Presdischarged his duty to the entire satisfaction of all, and gave promise of making an able and popular President.

The Senior Class consisted of nineteen regular members, on all of whom was conferred the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

OBITUARY.

Departed this life, Sabbath morning, July 10th, Charles Carroll, infant son of Dr. Joseph A. Drake, of Nashville, aged sx weeks, after an illness of only in days. The infant was remarkably sprightly, and was almost an idol to its once devoted but now bereaved parents. And it is seldom that the heart of any mother has been wrung with such incensolable grief as has that of Mrs Drake. But they should be mindful that the Lord gave it to then on earth for a short time, that he might take it to himself in glory and happiness forever. - Com-
