Notice.

THE subscriber, as Administrator on the estate of

Thomas Dickenson, dec'd,

Hereby notifies all the heirs of said Dickenson to come forward or make known their title to deceased's estate. It is conjectured that William Dickenson, brother of the deceased, who removed to South Carolina several years since, is now living or has left heirs who are entitled to part of said estate. The will of the deceased was made void, and all the heirs come in according to law. The estate is now ready for settlement, and if application is not made to the subscriber in Edgecombe county, North Carolina, within the time limited by law, I will feel myself authorized to settle with the heirs that are known.

PROSPECTUS OF The Republican.

"Let there be light."

IT is proposed to establish in the Town of Washington, North Carolina, a new paper under the above title and motto. The title indicates the political character of the paper, and the motto indicates its purpose. It will advocate strongly and warmly the doctrines of the Old Republican party—the doctrines of 1798, '99—the doctrines of Thomas Jefferson. It will maintain a strict construction of the Federal Constitution. It will of course resist the re-charter of a National Bank in every form which Federal ingenuity can propose. Such an institution is believed to be not only at war with the Constitution, but the worst foe to the commercial independence of the South. It has besides, many dangerous political tendencies. The Republican will advocate a divorce between Bank and State. The union of Bank and State is mutually corrupting, just as the union of Church and State has been found in all past history. And as in our free government it has been found, that government can get along very well without the aid of church, and the church best maintain its purity without the interference or aid of government; so it will be found equally advantageous to separate Government and Bank, and let each rest upon its own merits. A great question is now before the people of this country. It is: "Shall the people govern the banks, or the banks govern the people?" It involves another question: Are the people capable of self-government? Are they prepared to succumb to the dominion of a moneyed aristocracy? The odds are formidable: money is power, and a power ever adverse to popular freedom. The danger from such power is in proportion to its concentration; and it may safely be asserted, that a more extensive and formidable concentration of the money power never existed in any country than now exists in our own. It is waging open war with the people. It is even now sweeping counties and States in its ruthless and conquering march. All the purchasable talent of the country is enlisted against the people. Popular liberty is in danger. The people must rally to the rescue. Thanks to the wisdom and valor of our forefathers, the political power is still in the hands of the people; and surely it can only be necessary that they should be aroused to a sense of the danger. The Republican will be found on the side of the people and against irresponsible power. Will the people be true to themselves?

The interests of the Farmer will not be overlooked. A portion of the columns of the Republican will be devoted to improvements in Agriculture, Markets, &c.

The Republican will be published on a Super-royal sheet, weekly, at two dollars fifty cents if paid within three months after the receipt of the first number, three dollars if paid afterwards. All communications addressed, "Publisher of the Republican," will receive attention.

PROSPECTUS OF THE N. Carolina Journal.

IN assuming the Editorial department of the North Carolina Journal, we propose to make it a vehicle of general and useful information, giving the earliest information of the passing events of the day.

The Politics of the Journal will be the same as heretofore. We will advocate the course of the present National Administration, as long as they oppose the chartering of any Bank of the United States and are in favor of an Independent Treasury; and support the leading principles of the Republican party.

Our Politics are of the Jeffersonian Democratic principles, in contradistinction to the "No Party" measures of the Whigs, Bankites, Clayites, and Conservatives, of the present day, who seek to shelter themselves under the mask of "No Party Men." Our party is known, and therefore we will advocate our cause with truth and justice, and at the same time, treat our political opponents with that respect which ought to be observed among men.

We intend to improve the general appearance of the Journal in its typographical execution, and print it on as good paper as the market affords.

We further propose to reduce the price of the Journal, in order to give our friends a chance of being liberal in subscribing; and assisting us in promoting the good cause of Democracy.

TERMS.

The Journal will be published in future, at two dollars and fifty cents per annum, if paid in advance, three dollars if paid at the end of six months, and three dollars and fifty cents at the end of the year.
