JUDICIAL SALE OF LAND.

Pursuant to decrees of the Judge of the Su-perior Court of Edgecombe county, at the Fall term 1879, and the Spring term 1883, in the PRUDENCE SELIMA VINES, JOHN S. DANCY. W. H. Johnston and Bun. Nongager, a Executors of John Norfleet. JOHN S. DANCT and ANN E. DANCY.

John S. Dancy and Ann E. Dancy.

I will sell, in front of the Court House door, in Tarboro, on Monday, 4th day of December 1882, to the highest bidder all of that valuable piece or parced of land, or town tot, the property of the defendant John S. Dancy, situated in the town of Tarboro, in said county, adjoining the lands of W. S. Bettle, and others, and containing 18% acres, more or less; being the same which was conveyed to him by Ass Biggs.

The front yard contains a number and variety of magnolias, firs, hollies, jessamines and woodbines, and ornamental shrubbery. The back yard contains a variety of grapes and fruit trees; the garden, also, contains quite a variety of fruit trees, grape-vines, and a large strawberry bed: is well adapted to the growth of vegetables, and is in a high state of cultivation. Under the dwelling and connected therewith, is a fine cistern of the capacity of 6300 gallons, the water from which is pleasantly cool, no ice being necessary. The dwelling and out-houses are in a good state of preservation throughout. The fences around the premises except a few rods, have been renewed and repaired by the present owner, and are in a good condition.

Also, at the same time and place, another tract of land, lying on the south side of Tarriver, between said river and the county road; being the upper part of the Collin's tract; adjoining the lands of the late Coffield King and W. S. Battle, containg fifty-three acres, more or less; the same being the land purchased by said Dancy from N. M. Lawrence and wife, by deed, bearing date Jahnany 1st, 1874.

Also, one other parcel of land, described as being one-cightil of let No. 38, in the plan of the town of Tarboro; the same being the Sam E. Moore lot, and which was sold by his administrator, A. A. Moore, by virtue of a decree of the Superior Court of Edgecombe county, on the 14th day of September, 1869.

WHY WE COUGH AND HOW WE COUGH.

Everybody coughs sometimes, and udging by the quantity of patent cough medicines sold, many people of books, or living instructors. The persons suppose that a cough is a cough, the world over; and that what will cure one will another; and so they prescribe for themselves and their friends all sorts of syrups, home ling assertion that "it can't do any we not expect from it? Thus great made or proprietary, with the consohurt, if it don't do any good. 'How characters rise. While he who thinks do you know it can't do any hurt?" Do you know its ingredients, and, if so, have you studied their effects on the system in health and disease? Do you know the condition of the patient you are prescribing this for—his con-stitution, his habits of life, his past the air passages themselves.

Coughing is in part a voluntary act. We can cough whenever we wish to, but frequently we are compelled to cough when we don't wish to.

Nerves are divided into two classes. The former carry intelligence to the brain; they report any disturbance on the frontier to headquarters. The motor nerves then carry back the commands of the general to act. You tickle a caper-see, and these were revived un of the general to act. You tickle a caper-see, and these were revived un of the general to act. You tickle a caper-see, and these were revived un of the general to act. Their power is probably due to their covering the inflamed and irritable surface directly with a mucilaginous cost, and thus protect ing it from the action of the air and other irritants. An inflamed surface, whether within or without, is render ed worse by friction; therefore, in bronchial troubles, the inflamed surfaces are greatly irritated by the very

All coughing beyond what is absolutely necessary for the removal of the accumulated mucous, should be avoided, because it injure the parts affected by friction, and because it exhausts the patient; for the muscular exertion involved in a violent fit of coughing is very considerable, indeed, and the muscular effort exerted by a patient with a bad cough during the twenty four hours is really more than equivalent to that of many a man in a day's work. The difficulty in the way of recommending any one kind of cough remedy is, that different coughs require different treatment, and what will re lieve one may aggravate another. Then, too, the general health of the patient should be attended to the secretions should be kept open, etc. In short, the maxim, "What is one man's meat, is another man's poison," will apply here as alsowhere, and induces

THINKING. Thinking, not growth, makes perfect manhood. There are some, who, though they are done growing are only boys. The constitution may be fixed, while the judgement is immature; the limbs may be strong while the reasoning is feeble. Many who can run and jump, and bear fatigue, cannot observe, cannot examine, cannot reason or judge, contrive or exe-cute—they do not think. Accustom vourself to understanding whatever you see or read. To run through a book is not a difficult task, nor is it a profitable one. To understand a few pages only, is better than to read the whole, where mere reading it is all. If the work does not set you to think-ing either you or the author must be very deficient.

It is only by thinking that a man knews himself. All other knowledge without this is splendid ignorance. For a glance merely, but much close examination will be requisite for the forming of a true opinion of your own powers. Ignerance and self conseit always tend to make your over-rate gree of knowledge may make a timid mind pass up on himself too humble In Department O. sheet. W. P. & judgement. Thinking is, indeed the very germ of self-cultivation-the source from which all vital influences spring. Thinking will do much for an active mind, even in the absence reasoning faculty grows firm, expands discerns its own powers, acts with in creasing facility, precision and ex-tent, under all its privation. Where there is no privation, but every help from former thinkers, how much may little, though much he reads, or how much he sees, can hardly call any-thing he has his own. Glutinous and ascelarine matters lessen irritation, and as it frequently happens that much of the irritation which occasions the cough, exists at the root of the tongue, and in portions of the throat which can be reached by troches and lozenges slowly dissolved in the mouth; hence these often afford relief, especially in back of the root of the mouth; hence these often afford relief, especially in back of the root of the root of the mouth; hence these often afford relief, especially in back of the root of the root of the mouth; hence these often afford relief, especially in back of the root of the throat which can be reached to keep her hair from falling out.

We have certain styles of beauty now a-days; so had the Greeks. They went wild over the "ideal chin"—neither sharp nor blunt, but gently undulating in its outlines and losing itself gradually and almost insensibly in the fullness of the neck. The union will be shivered by de soun' ob a fid-

SUPERSTITION OF THE SEA.

Old wives by the sea coast hold many superstitions concerning the "hollowsounding and mysterious main." Thus Dickens tells us that Barkis lingered in his dying until the turn of the tide. when, the tide going out, Barkis went out with it.

In New England it is unlucky to kill a pig in the wase of the moon or the abbing of the tide; the pore will shrink in boiling. Water in the pot evaporates more rapidly over the fire when the tide is "dead-low." It is unlucky to eat fish from the head downward; it drives away the fish from the shore.

To tell the stage of the tide with out going to the beach, look into a this, expectorants of various kinds out going to the beach, look into a are administered, according to the megent cat's eye is elongated when the catch of fish until the day's work or sport, is done. Otherwise the sport is spoiled. Similarly the sea side far-mer never counts his lambs until the season for their dropping is over.
But it is not alone in rural communities that men and women keep up customs and rites founded on pagan apperetitions. Among the ancient Greeks and Romans it was a common custom for the bridegroom to give his bride, on the wedding night, a considerable sum of money by way of purchase for her person. From this, no doubt, we have derived the custom of making presents, under which so many people groan. The ancient Saxons gave a petrothal ring, or other gift, which was called a "wed," and from which we have derived a very charmwith a shoe as a token of her submis- brick yard." sion to her lord?

SOUTHERN PROSPERITY.

The Americus (Ga.) Recorder says: shipping grain and bay from the North we shall not be surprised if in a few years they do not turn the tables and export food to the North-indeed, it has this year already begun. The time was when the South was exclusively agricultural in its pursuits, but the past few years has seen factories springing up all over this section, and they have proved profitable. Others are rapidly following. The South is destined at no distant day to not only raise cotton to clothe the county, but to manufacture it into fabrics, thus keeping at home all the profits." KISSING. AS A CURE FOR FRECKLES.

One fine evening recently Mr. B., a Government employe in the town of Brunn, was taking a walk in the castle grounds, when on reaching a less frequented portion of the park, he saw a young lady coming out in an opposite direction. As they were about to pass each other, the lady suddenly turned toward him, threw her arms around his neck and kissed him; then as if ashamed of what she had done. she covered her face with her hands and ran off as fast as she could. The gentleman, unable to account for this agreeable surprise, followed the lady, and taking her by the arm, asked for friend's ear with setrew, and his hand automatically proceeds to scratch the itching membo. A tickling sensation is produced in the throat by any cause whatever: the brain then sends back crders to the muscles concerned to act se as to expel the intruder, in other words, to cough. And that is how we cough.

A GOOD SHORT SERMOM.

The "Abridgement of a Sermon on 'Man is Born to Trouble.'" may be found in the works of John Edwin, the comedian.
