THURSDAY NOVEMBER 29, 1883 DANGER AREAD! LET THE PEOPLE

The Wilmington and railroad company last week adopted In view of the evils which have whereby the stockholders have been practically deprived of the management of their own roads, and of the dangerous agitation of the same subject in North Carolina.

Resolved That all consideration of the subject of constructing a branch road from the Wilmington and Weldon Road in the direction of Florence, South Carolina, be for the present postponed.

Georgia and South Carolina have had railroad commissions for several years and there has been a "dangerous agitation of the question in North Carolina" as far back as 1880 Main St., just above to our certain knowledge. We get it from reliable sources that in Geor-Pamlico Banking Co.

The Wilmington and Weldon cor poration as late as June 24th of this wear with a great flourish of trump ets ordered a survey of a route from Wilson to Florence and proceeded to procure "rights of way" all along the proposed line.

That it was never intended to build the "short cut" is now very apparent, and the question naturally arises: Why all the noise?

It was a genuine case of the dog in the manger.

The New York, Norfolk and Charleston Railroad project has been for some time assuming shape and so soon as the Wilmington and Weldon people discovered that the parties interested therein, meant business, they set a out to harrass and bluff them into an abandonment of the enterprise.

The stockholders were called to gether. A resolution was passed referring the proposition to build the short cut to the board of directors with power to act. The directors resolved to build a read from Wilson to Florence and great publicity as late as last June was given to their decision. President Bridge ers and his lieutenant, A. J Galloway, visited the people all along the way, a corps of surveyors were put on and the route establisted, rights of way were obtained, and financial circles at the North road was a fixed fact. But still the New York, Norfolk and Charleston people persisted in their determination to build a road, evidently seeing through the W & V game of bluff.

were given to understand that the

Of course when railroads are b ing constructed, bonds are placed on the market, and with the pro ceeds, they are made. This is custom. It is proverbial that capi tal is very timid. Knowing this, the W & W-dog-in-the-manger last T. H. Gatlin. week passed the resolution we quote to give the fatal stab to the New York, Norfolk and Charleston project. This corporation tells through this resolution northern capitalists that it is unsafe to invest money in southern railroad enterprises because railroad commissions which exist in several states, take > from those who own them! As we have remarked, it was believed that such a resolution would settle the project of a railroad be tween the points we have named. Whether the W & W will be disap pointed or not, remains to be seen. Again: the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley road which is being so rapid ly pushed to completion, promises to be a competitor of the W & W and W. C & A roads This road will perhaps wish to market some of its bonds. So the resolution will tend to depreciate their bonds also.

Strenuous efforts have been made to extend this road to Raleigh. To do so, these bonds will have to be placed on the New York market. This resolution tells Wall Street not to touch them as the people of the southern states deal after the manper of a highway robber with money sweep down every obstacle in their way to do as they may be pleased, not only with the railroads but with The Wah-Ree Olub Again-My Challenge the public besides. The experiment of a railroad commission in the two first-named states has been eminently successful in letting the people live as well as the railroads, and the rail roads have determined to throw off the check. Our readers will remember the letter written by J.c. M. They cannot, therefore, claim either of these two churches as their allies

As for the Catholic and Episcopal churches, I suppose they speak excathedra. I thought, in my ignorance, that the eminent and holy men I quoted from, in the Episcopal church would be taken as unquestioned auannouncement that "the Church, which When an attack is made upon an claims to be the pillar and ground of individual, if in that attack princi- the truth, allows this indulgence" almost felt indignation against these terest of mankind for good or evil, high Church dignitaries, whom I had there may be a review of the a ticle, quoted, for assuming such authority upon this question.
