bolero of taffeta. Her hat was of natural leghorn, and she carried an arm bouquet of coral gladioli. The small ring-bearer preceded the bride. He was Dick Ravan, nephew of the bridegroom, who carried the ring on a pillow of white satin.

The bride entered the arm of her father, Mr. Otis S. Brock, who gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of white lace over satin, made duchess style with a long train. Her veil was of white illusion, and was held in place by sprays of orange-blossoms. Her bouquet was of white lilies and baby's breath, and tied with long streamers of white tulle. Her only ornament was an old cameo brooch.

The bride was met at the altar by the bridegroom, who entered with his best man, Artis Ballard, of Tryon. The officiating minister, was the Rev. Mr. Henry, pastor of the First Baptist church of Tryon. He was assisted by the Rev. O. K. Webb, of Southside church.

Following the ceremony the bridal couple left for a wedding trip of an unannounced destination. They will make their home in Tryon. For travelling, the bride wore a Carolyn model of navy sheer crepe, with a sharkskin coat of white, and with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink sweetheart rosebuds.

Miss Brock was graduated from Winthrop college in the class of 1933. She spent two years in the School of Sacred Music of the Southwestern seminary in Fort Worth. Last year she was on the music faculty of Lees-McRae college in Banner Elk, N. C. Mr. Rhodes, formerly of this city, resides in Tryon, where he is in business.—Spartanburg Herald.

cost him approximately $69.60, and he had $15 when, he landed in Ireland, plus 30 gallons of gasoline in the tanks of his "Flying Jallopy". Latest reports are that he will not attempt a return flight, but will take the advice of his 92-year-old grandmother, and the $200 cash of his grandfather, and take a boat back to the States after a visit around Europe.

New Game Rulings

The Board of Game and Inland Fisheries met in regular session on Saturday, July 26th, and ruled that the quail season to be shortened; (that the quail season would not be permitted to open until the 16th day of December). Rabbit season will begin on November 20th.

Dr. Lincoln Talks To Boys' Club

(By David Cromer)

Dr. C. Arthur Lincoln addressed the Tryon Boys' club this morning. His subject was "He Took It Upon Himself" and gave some interesting examples of great people who took it upon themselves to do the things that needed to be done. The boys are beginning to wonder which one will get the merit cup for the older boys group and also for the younger boys group.
