Weather Thursday: high 57, low 24. Friday was on the cool side and sunny.

The NCNB ad in today's paper is a correction of the one that ran last Thursday.

President Carter vetoes an anti-busing measure Thursday. It was part of a $9 billion appropriations bill for the departments of State, Justice and Commerce. Congress cannot adjourn without adopting the funding bill, because it's needed to keep the government operating after Dec. 15th. Even if Carter's veto stands, it's believed there will be no trouble passing a similar anti-busing measure when the new Congress convenes in January. President-elect Reagan already has said he opposes integration busing.

Convictions of the Wilmington 10 convicted of charges growing out of racial unrest in Wilmington in 1971 were overturned Thursday by the 4th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals. The ruling means the 10, all of whom have either served their sentences or been paroled, must be tried again or the charges must be dismissed. Another Flim-Flam

Tryon Police Chief Jerry Ross reported that a Chimney Rock woman was taken for $1300 Thursday afternoon near the Tryon Plaza. Two black women driving a white car managed to get the money. The two women got $1600 from a woman here on Nov. 25th.

Chief Ross said to beware of anyone trying to give you something for nothing. They find money which might have fallen out of your car and then ask you for money to put up while they find out who the money belongs to. The money disappears and so do the women.

These con artists usually trick elderly people, but anyone is a potential victim according to Chief Ross.

Arrested

The Landrum Police report that Robert Lynch, 17, was also arrested for rock throwing in the incident Tuesday night when the Landrum activity bus was rocked coming home after the Polk Central game.

Green River Committee Votes 8 to 6 For Natural And Scenic Waterway

The Green River Local Advisory Committee voted 8 to 6 Thursday night at the 4-H Center in Columbus to recommend the Green River Cove area for state designation as a natural and scenic waterway. The recommendation will now go to the Secretary Howard Lee of the Department of Natural Resources and Community Development who will review the decision and will make a recommendation to the N. C. Legislature. The 6 votes were for the land management plan between Duke Power Co. and the private landowners.

The Committee had four alternatives: to leave things the way they are; the cooperation of land owners; the cooperative land management plan between Duke Power Co. and the private landowners; state designation of the river as a natural and scenic waterway.

The landowners in the Green River Cove area for the most part were unhappy with the decision and felt that the committee had been stacked against them. They plan to continue the fight to keep their property.
