Everyone is in praise of the Steeplechase races this year. The local lawmen state that the crowds were orderly and that everyone seemed to have a good time. The landowners in the area were pleased with the protection given their property and those attending the Steeplechase picked up after their picnics, etc. The weather cooperated and although it was cloudy much of the time, the rain didn't come until early Sunday morning.

The Winthrop College News, a publications for alumni, parents and friends, had a picture and article on Ramona Brock Rhodes ('33). The article told of her being honored as Woman of the Year by the Thermal Belt Business and Professional Women's Club. She was recognized for her dedication

Fine Arts Center And Farwell Annex

In case you are wondering about the transformation of the grounds at the Fine Arts Center and the Farwell Annex, the Gay Blades Garden Club has donated the funds and Mary Reese, Doris Lackey, Paul Culberson and many others, so dedicated, have provided the back-breaking labor to establish a new look. Sod will be replaced with chips, and wild flowers and plantings are being moved from one garden to another to provide a more uniform appearance. The Arts and Crafts and Painters and Sculptors have a new path through the wildflower garden for easy access back and forth from one building to another and the end result should be one of complete uniformity. Weather permitting, Wednesday, April 8th will be the day for the "Labor of Love." — Reporter
