Bragging On Us

Georgia's Coastal Illustrated, published twice monthly by Coastal Media, Inc. as a promotional magazine for the betterment of Ga.'s coast from St. Marys to Savannah had an article, "A Trip To Camp" by John Barnes III. It was accompanied by a picture of a bedroom at Stone Hedge Inn, one of the exterior of The Stone Hedge Inn and one of "The Tryon Horse."

The article tells of leaving a child at camp and sightseeing on the trip back to Brunswick, Ga. The article told of the enjoyable visit at The Stone Hedge Inn and talking with Charles Ivimey at the Chamber of Commerce and having Lydia Clontz show them some property.

The article was very favorable to this area.

"The Cullowhee Experience"

CULLOWHEE — Elizabeth L. Claud, eighth grade, and John William Medford Claud, sixth grade, children of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Claud of Tryon, were among 350 students who attended "The Cullowhee Experience", a summer enrichment program held at Western Carolina University for intellectually gifted students.

The four-week program, which just completed its 24th year under the sponsorship of WCU's School of Education and Psychology, offers a balance of academic, cultural, social and recreational activities to gifted students in grades five through 10.

Most of the participants are from North Carolina and the Southeast, but some represent states as far away as Illinois and Ohio.

Students were selected to attend on the basis of having individual IQ scores of 130 or better and achievement records indicating a two-grade placement level above the class to which they belong. Admission also was based on recommendations from school principals and guidance counselors.
