children involved in pre-school and day care in the county - in 120 facilities. But she warns that there is a need for more.

The ECPDA provides coordination and assistance to all day care centers. The ECPDA plans to hold workshops and training sessions for teachers in the near future. Also in the works is a talent bank. Mrs. Graham explains this is a mobilization of human resources. "We plan to ask people who have certain skills... to assist teachers".

Mrs. Graham also hopes to establish a resource center library by the end of September. "This is so the smaller centers that don't have toys and other materials can borrow film strips, books, projectors, and other materials to use", she explained.

She was also very enthusiastic about ECDPA's information and referral system. This system allows a person to call the ECDPA office for information to find a center that suits them financially, geographically, and educationally. The ECDPA is now planning a fall conference just before Thanksgiving. It will be a community-wide event, co-sponsored by the Northwest Child Development Council and several other organizations.
