Q. This year the budget request was trimmed by the school board, although it came out to be more than the previous year. But nationwide, I guess Ohio would be the worse case, where you have voters turning down referendums and they will be side to open or came out, they show that something you replace that not. Do you foresee Forsyth County getting into that kind of crunch? A. Well I do think that the future is going to be one

I've worked in a number of levels, our minority stuthese other states involved in this, it's a different taxing structure. I personally don't see us getting in this position in North Carolina.

Q. Do you think putting a child in a class designated as a slow learning class, can hurt that child throughout their school life?

A. Do you mean special education classes?

O. No. not special education, but putting them in reading groups or other groups classifying them as slow.

A. I don't think so. I don't think youngsters sense this to begin with. I think you have to deal at a skill level. If a youngster has difficulty for example understanding punctuation, and it is recognized that there is a special need or discrepancy, there's nothing wrong with grouping kids together that have that deficiency and trying to work with it. A. That does not apply at all. We have to keep; we're constantly aware of how we've balanced in the economic factor as much as schools, we certainly don't go with a 1-1 replacement.

> Q. Do you have Afro-American courses taught as separate courses?

A. They have offered some of these and they are still on the listing. They are elective courses

O. Sometime age these was a situation in which the assessment about you were released and there was some discussion about how that got out. How would you rate your relations with the board right now and do you think that the furor over that particular incident has died down?

A. That never had anything to do with my relationship with the board. It was an unfortunate thing because I don't think that any employee should ever read their evaluation in the newspaper. I think that is a private thing. I think that was very unfortunate that it would happen to any employee. I think it's an obligation of the employer, whether its me working with the employee or the board working with me. It was the kind of issue, in my opinion that some board member made a misjudgment on the significance or insignificance of that.

Q. In general what is status of Forsyth County schools?

A. The general attitude toward the schools is that the area of greatest concern is the teaching of basic skills the assignment plan, there was an expressed interest to return to k-6-3-3. .discipline, generally positive toward the school. It speaks well toward the school.

Organization Seeks Volunteers

Being a volunteer is not costly in time or money, but the results are great: children in the program make substantial gains in selfesteem, grades,

"social adequacy." Volunteers can be anyone over the age of 18 willing to consistently spend three hours a week with a young person age 8 to 17.

"Volunteers must be responsible," Grizzard noted. "These kids don't need another rejection."

The three hours a week can be spent anyway the Brothers or Sisters want. mentioned Grizzard movies, ballgames, a visit to the volunteer's house or an outing with the child included with the volunteer's own family.

The Big Brothers/Big Sisters organization was founded 75 years ago in Cincinnati. The Winston-Salem Chapter was founded in February 1977.
