DAVE WINFIELD---San Diego Padres' outfielder, who has used his own money to invite over 10,000 underprivileged children to baseball games this summer, has been named the October winner of the Gordon's Gin Good Guy Award.

The award honors athletes and sports personalities who have demonstrated an awareness and sensitivity to community problems. Previous recipients include former Oriole Brooks Robinson; ex-fight champion Carmen Basilio; Lyle Alzado of the Denver Broncos; and Joe Torre, manager of the New York Mets.

The 26-year-old Winfield enjoys helping people as much as he loves playing baseball. On the West Coast, a special foundation, bearing his name, helps disadvantaged youngsters regardless of race or creed. Winfield's foundation provides relief and recreation through athletics.

In his hometown of St. Paul, Minn., the owner of one of the strongest throwing arms in baseball, has started a minority student athletic program to serve as a deterrent against students dropping out of school. He's also behind a special project to raise money to help deserving minority students get into college.

Winfield, a 1974 graduate of the University of Minnesota--who has made the National League All-Star Team for the past two seasons--is the pride of St. Paul.

The tributes to the Padres' top offensive performer will begin on Sunday, October 1, at the San Diego Padres Baseball Stadium.

Ponti Campagna, representing Gordon's Dry Gin Company Limited, will present Winfield with the Gordon's Gin Good Guy Award plaque, and a cash donation to the baseball star's favorite charity--the David M. Winfield Foundation for Underprivileged Children.

The tributes will continue: Winfield will be honored on the playing field by California State Senator Bob Wilson, the Boys Club of America, the American Legion, Teen Challenge and the Youth of San Diego Volunteers for Dave Winfield.

Bowen Blvd. Location Open Sunday 1-6 P.M. 1546 SOUTH MAIN ST. • 3100 BOWEN BLVD. • 1312 N. PATTERSON AVE.
