cleanest he has seen it. "I don't see it as a really bad housing," Roberts said. "It just needs maintenance." "We made many random inspections and we don't think the problem is all on part of the tenants," Roberts continued.

Nellie Jones told the board that the intent of the report was to bring them up to date on specific activities at the complex. She said that the addition of eight CETA personnel at the complex has helped to get things accomplished.

In a slide presentation it was shown that CETA employees had restructured the stockrooms, repatched holes, replaced tiles, repainted interiors, and fixed leaky ceilings.

David Wagner, president of Urban Housing, Inc. criticized the news media for presenting Goler in a bad light.

"The newspapers tend to indicate that Goler was at default from its inception," Wagner said. "The negative coverage does the complex an injustice."

Wagner said that since most of the rent is subsidized, most tenants pay absolutely nothing. He said that Goler is working on a tight budget, and that the problem stems from a shortage of money.

"I don't see anything else we could do," added Smith.
