

BLACK COLLEGE SPORTS REVIEW

A Publication of the Winston-Salem Chronicle

January 1984

Vol. VII, No. 5

6 R-E-S-P-E-C-T

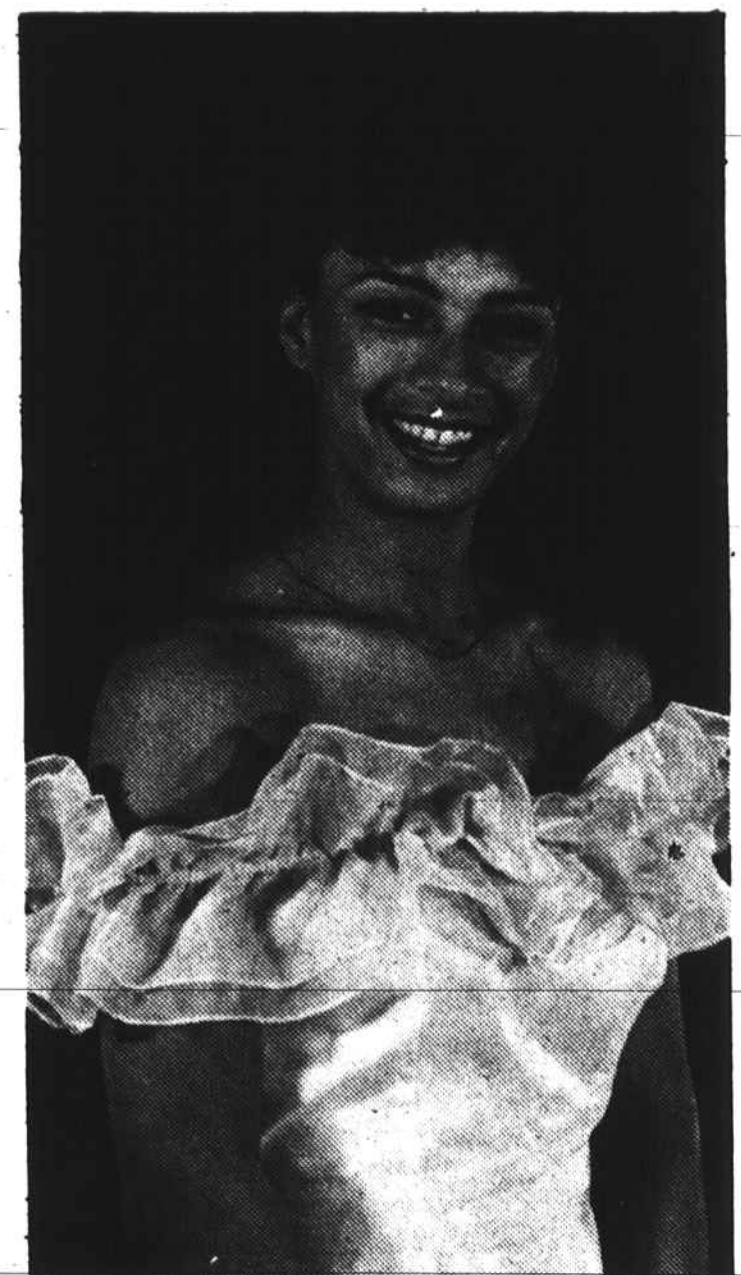

Though North Carolina A&T lost once again to defending national champion North Carolina State, the Aggies executed a brilliant game plan en route to exposing a weak State backcourt and earning a measure of respect.

12 Double Trouble

Virginia Union is sooooo good this year that it might win not one, but two national titles. Fred Jeter relates the double-nightmare for Union's CIAA opponents.

3 Rooneyisms

Borrowing a page from Andy Rooney's book, our intrepid columnist wonders why all the fuss about dancing in the end zone, among other things. He also bemoans the lack of television coverage of black college sports.

15 Royalty

Black campus queens combine intelligence, ambition and beauty. They're spotlighted in the first of a series of photo essays.

9 Decent Exposure

Black Entertainment Television's 10-game black college basketball package gives black players national exposure where usually there is none. And it's growing.
