A&T to give awards

A corporate tax planning manager, a university professor and a Chicago home economics teacher have been selected to receive the highest annual awards of the North Carolina A&T State University National Alumni Association.

Velma J. Simmons of Winston-Salem, Dr. Arthur Purcell of Greensboro and Miss Sarah L. Coggins of Chicago will be honored during the Alumni Association's annual awards banquet in F.A. Williams Commons on Saturday, May 1, at 1 p.m.

Simmons, who will receive the Achievement Award, is a tax planner for R.J. Reynolds Industries Inc. and has been employed by the tobacco firm since 1969. She also operates her own tax service and teaches part time at Forsyth Technical Institute. She has completed requirements to become a certified public accountant.

Simmons holds a degree from A&T and the University of North Carolina at Greensboro and has studied at Wake Forest and Indiana University. She is national treasurer of the A&T Alumni Association, president of the Twin City chapter and a member of the Chancellor's Council.

Purcell, a 1963 graduate of A&T, is an assistant professor of agriculture at the university.

Coggins, a home economist for the Chicago Board of Education, will be honored with the association's Distinguished Service Award. She holds a B.S. degree from A&T and has studied at Howard University, Lincoln University and Chicago State University.
