S.C. State Miffed at FAMU

When South Carolina State found itself with only a nine-game football schedule for this season and few prospects for finding more opponents, it tried to renew its relationship with Florida A&M. It was an awkward telephone call. The Bulldogs had already turned down FAMU's request for a game at a time when the Rattlers were struggling to put together a schedule. S.C. State, against the wishes of its athletic director, had decided to "punish" the Rattlers for pulling out of the Mid-

Eastern Athletic Conference. The move backfired, though, when S.C. State found itself in a jam and had to go after the Rattlers. FAMU, which probably could have made some adjustments in its just-completed schedule, said no dice, though, and S.C. State came away miffed, just as FAMU was when it sought the game. Though neither school is at more fault here, the fact that the schools weren't able to agree on a game will only escalate the cold war that exists between FAMU and the power structure in the MEAC.

"I just hope it doesn't go in reverse now." "We reached our season's goal this year of winning the conference tournament," he added. "Next year, we want to repeat and also to win the district title. This was a great year for us. Of the games we lost, we were beaten by one run in four games, two runs in two games and three runs in three games, so we weren't that far from a perfect season."

inning of every game. We won't set that (a perfect season) as a goal, but we will certainly be working toward that end." To add icing to the Ramettes' victory cake, Menefee was chosen as the league's Most Valuable Player and Donna Johnson was picked for the all-CIAA team.

Still, Grant would not include a perfect record among his team's goals next season, though he obviously wouldn't mind seeing it happen. "It is a great accomplishment to go unbeaten in any sport," he said. "To do that you have to keep great intensity and concentrate every

Southern slapped with reprimand

By BARRY COOPER
Syndicated Columnist

BATON ROUGE, La. -- The NCAA has issued a reprimand to Southern University and taken away two of the school's football scholarships for the 1984-85 academic year after learning of minor recruiting violations.

According to the NCAA Committee on Infractions, Southern violated the rules while recruiting and signing offensive lineman Anthony Hudson last February.

According to the NCAA, the violations involved transportation and two meals Hudson received while being courted by Jim Colbert, a former Southern assistant coach who now works for the Chicago Blitz of the United States Football League.

NCAA rules forbid buying meals for a recruit or providing transportation that is not directly connected to a recruit's "official" visit to the university.

The NCAA learned of the violations after a complaint by Northwestern State Head Coach Sam Goodwin. Goodwin wrote Southern Athletic Director Dick Hill, calling the recruiting of Hudson "illegal and unethical."

Northwestern is said to also have been interested in signing Hudson.

Southern Coach Otis Washington says he can't understand what all the fuss is about.

"Based on the information I got on the way we recruited him (Hudson), I don't feel we did anything wrong," Washington said. "I don't think the coach in question set out to do anything wrong."

Hudson is from Mansfield, La.
