

Old Town school rated 'outstanding' in 1984

June 1 was the last day of the 1984 school year for the students in the Winston-Salem/Forsyth County School System and it was the last day of classes for the sixth-graders at Old Town School.

The Student Committee is made up of those students in the sixth grade who possess excellent leadership qualities. Two students from each sixth-grade class were chosen to represent their homeroom on the committee.

This year, Ms. Clories P. Shore, a second-grade teacher at Old Town, and one of the 1983-84 finalists for Teacher of the Year in the school system, and Larry Womble, assistant principal at Old Town, were the advisors for the committee. Under the leadership of these two educators, the committee provided excellent service to the school and the community.

During the 1983-84 school year, the group sponsored a food and household items give-away for needy families in the community. The boxes were donated to the Crisis Control Ministries and the Experiment in Self-Reliance Inc. in the name of the Old Town School Student Committee.

The committee also sponsored a mailbox project. Students, teachers and staff were encouraged to use the mailbox to mail cards and greeting to their friends and classmates within the school during special holidays.

committee would make announcements on the public address system. This included poetry, proverbs, famous quotations and Bus of the Week awards. Smiley Face awards were also announced and given to those students who quietly walked to their rooms from their buses.

The committee also decorated the walls of the cafeteria and participated in a clean and green project on the campus.

The students visited the Hall of Justice to learn more about city government.

The officers for this year were Catherine Long, president; John Richardson, vice president; Holly Dickson, secretary; Shawn Fink, treasurer; and members

Eriskine Fred, Allyson Watson, Damon Nago, Rosemary McCarthy, Cheryl Bethea, Shontal McClary, Elaine Thompson, Jason Conway, Yolanda McCoy, Faith Smalls and Win Craft.

Chancel Brown is the principal.

PEPSI PREP ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

The Pepsi Cola Bottling Company salutes Scott Stanley of North Forsyth Senior High School...He's The Pepsi Prep Athlete of the Week. Stanley has been a key player in the Vikings drive to the semi-finals of the state 4-A baseball playoffs. His .450 batting average is one of the top marks in high school stats this year.

In honor of Scott Stanley, The Pepsi Cola Bottling Company of Winston-Salem will make a cash contribution to the North Forsyth Senior High athletic program. Congratulations to Vikings' baseball star, Scott Stanley, The Pepsi Prep Athlete of the Week.

Listen each Wednesday at 8 p.m. on WSJS for Gene Overby TALKS SPORTS where he highlights Pepsi's Prep Athlete of the Week.

OUR COMMITMENT TO BLACK AMERICA

At Adolph Coors Company we stand for opportunity for all people. Because of this belief we are implementing a program to increase our commitment to expand opportunities for the Black community. By working together we can share success.

The following is our covenant with Black America:

- Support the development of Black-owned businesses.
- Appoint additional top Black management executives.
- Name five Black distributors within our distribution territory.
- Increase the use of Black advertising and marketing services.
- Make additional corporate contributions to Black organizations and colleges.
- Expand purchasing programs from Black-owned suppliers and businesses.
- Deposit significant funds in Black-owned banks throughout the country.

The highlights of our covenant are the result of our many meetings and negotiations with national and regional Black organizations. We are pledging ourselves to a program over the next five years that could reach a value of $325 million.

We want to continue to work together to support the communities, people and consumers in the markets we serve.
