

Phi Delta Kappas announce new project

The monthly meeting of the national sorority, Phi Delta Kappa, met on Oct. 24 at the East Winston Branch Library.

The meeting was opened by greetings from the Beatrice Watts, basileus, followed by the ritualistic opening by Glennie Hall.

The purpose of the meeting was to hear yearly reports given by Kathaleen Williams, Mattie Neal, Mattie Alexander and Maxine Brandon.

A new project was introduced by Marvin, first auti-basileus, entitled "Progress made by Blacks in Art."

Other members present were Mary Ellis, Lizette Staplefoot, Virginia Allen and Vera Sadler, the reporter.

Mrs. Rosa Cato (center) was recently crowned Mrs. American Legion Unit 128.

Ebony Fashion Fair set tomorrow night

Dressing this season can be exhilarating, fulfilling each day and night with a new awareness of what color can do for you.

A color fantasy of fashion will be on parade here on Friday, Nov. 2, at the annual fall/winter Ebony Fashion Fair. The show, sponsored by Ebony Magazine in conjunction with the Winston-Salem Urban League Guild, will begin at 8 p.m. at the M.C. Benton Convention Center.

The Ebony Fashion Fair, considered the largest fashion extravaganza of its kind in the world, will feature the season's best designs from 114 American and European designers, with emphasis on daytime, office, casual and evening wear.

The show stars 12 models, including 10 women and two men, who will make approximately 250 changes during the show.

"The best fashions for fall and winter seasons don't hold back," said Eunice W. Johnson, the show's producer and director. "They are unabashedly colorful and outrageous."

The Ebony Fashion Fair began in 1958 as a means for local civic and charitable groups to raise money. Since its inception 26 years ago, the Fashion Fair has grown from a 10-city show to a nationwide tour of nearly 200 cities and towns, and has raised more than $17 million for charity.

Proceeds from Friday night's show will go to the Urban League Guild of Winston-Salem.

As a special attraction, More cigarettes, a co-sponsor of the fashion tour, will donate a matching mink hat and muff or fling to be given away as a door prize during the show. The ensemble was designed by noted New York furrier James McQuay.

Cato crowned at tea

Mrs. Rosa Cato was crowned Mrs. American Legion, Unit 128, on Sunday, Oct. 14, at the Annual Rainbow Membership Tea at American Legion Post No. 128.

Also present at the Rainbow

Tea were President of State American Legion Auxiliaries Anna J. Bailey; Gold Star Chairman Constance Coble; Division President Mary Tuttle; District President Katherine Brendle; and Poppy Chairman Nonnie Grace.
