

James A. Rousseau, top, right, basileus of the Psi Phi Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity Inc., presents the Omega Man of the Year Award to Dr. C.B. Hauser while Mrs. Lois Hauser and J.P. Keen, cited for his 50 year membership in the fraternity, look on. Below, Judge Roland H. Hayes, center, was named Citizen of the Year by Rousseau. Mrs. Barbara Hayes looks on.

Fraternity lauds Hayes and Hauser

Local members of the Psi Phi Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity recently concluded their 1985 Achievement Week Celebration with an anniversary luncheon and awards programs at the Winston Plaza.

The celebration, held on Nov. 18, was held in the Forsyth Ballroom of the new Stouffer's Hotel, with more than 100 persons in attendance. The former national chaplain of the fraternity, the Rev. T. Maurice Huntley, was the principal speaker for the occasion and spoke on the national theme for Achievement Week, "The Importance of Black Political Action NOW." Also appearing on the program were Malcolm Bernard Smith and Richard Teaster of the N.C. School of the Arts. Smith was the local winner of the fraternity's 1984 Talent Hunt competition and previously represented the chapter in musical competition at Myrtle Beach, S.C.

National Achievement Week was inaugurated at the fraternity's ninth Grand Conclave in 1920, which met in Nashville, Tenn. It was first called "Negro History and Literature Week" out of deference to Dr. Carter G. Please see page A12

Season opener for Black Rep. scheduled

The N.C. Black Repertory Theatre Company's production of "Master Harold and the Boys" opens Nov. 30 at 8 p.m. in the Arts Council Theatre.

This play, by Athol Fugard, takes place in Port Elizabeth, in a South African tea room where two black men and the son of the white owner fill the time with funny conversations which turn ugly and destructive before the final curtain.

This will be the opening night of the sixth season of the N.C. Black Repertory Theatre Company, the only professional black theater in Winston-Salem.

Celebrity ushers will be on hand with wine and cheese served prior to the performance. Celebrity ushers for opening night include Roland Hayes, district court judge; Lester Ervin, fire chief; Delisa Saunders, the N.C. Arts Council's minority affairs officer; Don Wolfe, Wake Forest University dean of drama; Please see page A11
