175 Massey family members gather for May reunion

Approximately 175 family members and friends from Ohio, North and South Carolina gathered for the Massey family reunion held May 18 and 19.

The reunion opened with a service at Blum Park with attendees wearing blue shirts with "Massey Reunion, 1985" printed on them.

A Sunday worship service was held at the Rupert Bell Center with the Rev. Henry Massey delivering the message, "God is Still Looking." He preached from Luke 15: 12-23.

A fellowship dinner was followed by songs and testimony led by Moses Massey, the oldest family member.

Gifts were presented to Moses Massey and youngest family member, Angelica Massey.

Mamie Moore, president of the Winston-Salem reunion committee, was also presented a gift.

The 1986 reunion will be held in Salisbury.

our problem, Sen. Hart. We're going to solve it by directing our $200 billion and one another.

Sen. Hart, while you were leading your crusade to Washington, I was speaking in your name in Denver to the NCP. One of your aides was to tell you about the enthusiastic reception that my "Buy Freedom Card" message got.

You want to make good on your "new crusade" for economic opportunity and the first white politician with enough grit and guts to join us.

You write to me at 1501 Broadway, Suite 2014, New York, N.Y., 10036, or call 212-687-0878. I'll send you a "Buy Freedom Card" at no charge.

If you want to serve on a committee, or even head it, it's yours for the asking.

I want your help, Senator, because you're white, but I want you to make sense. As you know, I'm black.

They (young blacks) want a party that helps you own your own business. They want either jobs or they want to go up the ladder to work for themselves or to make it big in the country.

It's not enough to promise particularly to young people. They are now asking: "Why can't I be on my own? Why can't I do what others, particularly young whites, have done?"

With that kind of motivation and leadership, they can. But you made the most sense when you said: "We must assist black entrepreneurs with targeted policies that help minority businesses obtain start-up funds, and steer new businesses to communities where joblessness is most severe."

If you're serious, you can make that happen, not with speeches or more administrative-top-heavy "minority business" programs to cover political seats during election years, but by signing up to help us help ourselves.

Blacks don't need pity. Blacks don't need friends who believe they can't do it because they are inferior.

Blacks need friends who will tell them the truth -- and then stand beside it.

When "Buy Freedom Month" comes, Sen. Hart, will you be there?
