himself to become a part of the earth's better inhabitants.

Many, at an early age, decide within themselves that their lives only do a part of what is required of them. Both boys and girls find in the streets the answer they seek. Money, power and even luxury, compared to what they have been acquainted or accustomed to at home, answer their quest.

Parents can't stop them. Some don't try, some don't care, and some don't have time. They are too busy with their own greed for bloodthirsty treasures or wrongdoing.

Slavery, the Civil War, the suffering inflicted because of punishment by the so-called superior race, was not half as bad as what is happening now in this area of quality education to our young, beautiful girls who say they are happy to have children out of wedlock.

Our nation is not prepared to care for the many unwanted children who are born fatherless in this world. We are not prepared to uphold the young men who through dope helplessly steal, kill and carelessly sow the unwanted, fertilized seed which causes so many dull or bright non-responsible babies throughout the universe.

The young women, girls and babies do not have to face the task that our forefathers faced, but certainly there is a task -- and woe unto us if we do not face that task.

The share of work in the world is supposed to be equalized. When one decides to watch the other man work and in his cunning way, through greed and desperation, strip him of his earnings by thievery, or when one watches babies and women, regardless of age, and teen-agers, and through any means commits rape, crime and murder, the world is in danger.

When one decides the fact that dope is the means to greed, commercialism and even riches, regardless as to how many lives are taken, God has wasted the earth that made the hands.

The devil is at work, and soon his works will be destroyed. Can we help?

Men can help in fighting these many vices. Our women can take time out to encourage them.

We should show in our lives that we recognize the law of work -- real work. The law of strife must be recognized. We must toil to win a complete competence in ourselves and those dependent upon us.

We must not sit idly by and let the foreigners possess our country, take the finer jobs, bring in dope that plays a greater part in what is happening today.

Our children say, "Leave us alone; we are old enough to take care of ourselves." Are they?

They are not the responsible ones, we are. Our men must get busy. They should visit the clubs, dens, streets, ill-lighted rooms. They must join the police force as volunteers -- and walk the streets. They should go out from the churches, schools, political offices and do their duties as men. Women, encourage your men. They are at this time more needed to help the younger generation.
