MILLER LITE CONFERENCE UPDATE

Brought to you by Miller Lite. The proud sponsor of the CIAA, MEAC, and SWAC conferences.

SWAC - Gerald Kimble is preparing himself this summer for his first season as the head football coach at Southern University.

Kimble takes over for Marino Casem, who will give all of his concentration to being the school's athletic director.

Kimble feels that the schedule for the Jaguars this year is an ambitious one. In addition to the Jags' SWAC schedule, they will face Bethune-Cookman, Nicholls State, Florida A & M, and Tennessee State.

MEAC - South Carolina State head basketball coach Cy Alexander was recently interviewed for the Ohio State basketball coaching job.

Alexander, whose team won the MEAC basketball title in March, said that he isn't actively seeking employment elsewhere. But that doesn't mean that he wouldn't accept the position if OSU offered.

CIAA - The CIAA Football Coaches
Association has made its annual pre-season predictions for the Northern and Southern Division.

Lite Beer Athlete of The Month.

Mary Onyali

Black College Sports Review is proud to announce that Texas Southern University senior sprinter, Mary Onyali has been selected as Miller Lite's Black College Athlete of the Month.

Onyali, a native of Nigeria, was the prime-time performer for the Lady Tigers this season. She led her team to a fourth place finish at the NCAA Division I Track & Field Championships held last month at Provo, Utah.

Individually, Onyali finished second in the her speciality, the 200 (22.45) and fourth in the 100 (11.14). In addition, she was the prime force in the 4×100 relay as the anchor. She also was member of the 4×400 team which placed third at the nationals (3:32.18).

Her performance at the nationals earned her All-American honors.

This month, Onyali has succeeded on the world class track circuit. In a meet held at Edinberg, Scotland, she placed second in the 200 (23.17) and third in the 100 (11.61).

Miller Lite honors Mary Onyali as the Black College Athlete of the Month for July.
