Millner wins Morehouse scholarship

Marlon Millner has won a renewable Achievement Scholarship financed by Morehouse College. Some 740 Achievement Scholarships, worth approximately $3 million, have been awarded in 1991 to outstanding black students. Approximately 200 of the awards, such as the one Millner has won, are being financed by about 50 U.S. colleges and universities. College-sponsored Achievement Scholarships provide between $250 and $2,000 per year for undergraduate study at the sponsor college. Winners were chosen by officials of each sponsor institution from Achievement Program Finalists who will attend that college.

The 1991 competition began when some 90,000 black students requested consideration in the Achievement Program at the time they took the 1989 PSAT/NMSQT, which serves as the qualifying test for participation in the competition. Approximately 1,500 of these students, the highest scorers in the states that comprise each of several geographic regions, were announced as semifinalists in September 1990.

To advance in the competition, semifinalists had to become finalists by meeting high academic standards and submitting information about their activities, personal interests, and goals. Of the semifinalists, 1,200 qualified as finalists and were considered for awards. Achievement Scholars are candidates judged for future academic success.

Two other types of Achievement Scholarships were offered in 1991. Every finalist was considered for one of the 350 National Achievement $2000 Scholarships, single-payment awards that are distributed on a regional representation basis. About 190 four-year Achievement Scholarships sponsored by corporate and business organizations were awarded to Finalists who have qualifications of particular interest to their grantor organizations.

The annual Achievement Program, conducted by National Merit Scholarship Corporation, exists specifically to recognize able secondary school students who are Black Americans. It is a compensatory activity that was initiated in 1964, as a means of increasing educational opportunities for outstanding participants by bringing them to the attention of colleges and universities and awarding scholarships to a substantial number of the most promising student. Achievement Scholarships are underwritten by about 160 independent sponsor organizations and institutions, donor contributions, and other program funds. When the 1991 program is concluded, a total of more than 14,700 Achievement Scholarships, worth some $47 million, will have been awarded in the 27 annual competitions completed to date.

Turner to be honored in NYC banquet

William "Jomo" Kenyatta Turner will join 450 outstanding high school honor students and 50 adult leaders from around the country at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City at the 30th annual Salute to Excellence program, sponsored by the American Academy of Achievement of Danville, Ca.

The Academy, over the past three decades, has recognized the performance and potential of such persons as Kareem Abdul Jabbar, Tom Brokaw, Quincy Jones, Colin Powell, Dianne Sawyer, John Sununu, Hershel Walker, and among others, Henry R. Kravis. Turner's trip is sponsored by Mr. Kravis of Kohlberg Kravis and Roberts of New York City.

Turner's invitation to the Golden Plate weekend includes round-trip air fair to NYC, weekend lodging and meals at the Waldorf, the Banquet of the Golden Plate, a yearbook, tuxedo, outings to the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the United Nations, a dinner cruise, three dances, and a symposium series with the adult guests of honor.

Turner, a 1991 graduate of Carver High School, is a National Merit Scholarship recipient. He has chosen to take his full tuition, room and board, and stipend scholarship to Morehouse College in Atlanta to study physics, where he will also attend a program in architecture operated jointly between Morehouse and Georgia Tech.

His sister, Kisha, is an honors history major (junior) at Spelman College in Atlanta. He lives with his brother, Hodari, and parents Vivian and William H. Turner in Winston-Salem.

Each year, the American Academy of Achievement invites 50 men and women of exceptional accomplishment — 25 distinguished past awardees and 25 new guests-of-honor — to share a weekend with one another and 450 of the nation's most outstanding high school honor students.

During the three-day "salute to excellence," these Young Leaders of Tomorrow have a chance to meet and discuss issues with eminent adult achievers from every facet of American life ... the science, business, the professions, sports, literature, entertainment, the military, the arts, and public service.

The highlight of the weekend program is the Banquet of the Golden Plate where each guest of honor is presented with the Golden Plate Award as a "representative of the many who excel" in his chosen profession.

The Academy was founded in 1961 "to inspire youth with new
