

UL begins new family program

The Winston-Salem Urban League has been awarded a grant from Children's Trust Fund for the fiscal year 1992-93 to work with African-American families.

This year 27 projects were funded in three categories — community planning grants, consortium on positive discipline, and support programs for parents.

These projects aim to help prevent child abuse and neglect by focusing on providing support, education or special services families need. In the new side by side program, the Winston-Salem Urban League will work with 30 African-American families to enhance the bonding, emotional ties, communication skills and parenting skills to strengthen the family systems. These families will be organized into support systems, including extended families. Weekly meetings will be held to introduce these individuals to culturally-specific parenting styles and stages of development for their children. Human service personnel and volunteers will receive training to increase their awareness of the African-American family from a positive perspective and will be involved in maintaining hands-on working relationships with these families as they work to increase family strength.

Bonham has first pastoral

On Sunday, June 28 at 3 p.m., the Rev. B.H. Bonham Jr. will celebrate his first pastoral anniversary at the First Baptist Church in Thomasville.

Dr. W.E. Martin, pastor of Cedar Creek Baptist Church in Mocksville will be the guest speaker. The Rev. B.H. Bonham's father, Dr. B.H. Bonham, pastor and founder of Pitts Memorial Baptist Church in Winston-Salem will serve as master of ceremonies. The Rev. B.H. Bonham Jr. is the son of

Dr. B.H. and Fannie Bonham.

He attended Forsyth County Schools and was elected the first black co-captain of the North-South Carolina Shrine Bowl in 1969. Bonham attended N.C. Central University but graduated from Shaw University where he earned a B.A. degree in pre-theology. He is also the former pastor of Forbush Baptist Church in Yadkinville. He is a resident of High Point.

Dinner will be served following the service.

Rev. B.H. Bonham Jr.
