ings in the 1990 and 1991 NCAA Division II Wrestling Championships.

Strike from the records of the 1990 Division II Wrestling Championships the individual points and standing of a student-athlete who competed while ineligible.

Establish an educational program to instruct all persons involved in the athletics program on NCAA legislation.

In announcing the university's response to the NCAA report, Chancellor Thompson said, "The situation could have been worse, but the Committee acknowledged our case as being unique and afforded us some leniency. I am also grateful to the Committee for recognizing our cooperation throughout the investigation," Thompson said.

"As chief executive officer, I take full responsibility for past laxity of administration in athletics, but we have made some bold changes since 1990, changes that put us well on the way to addressing all of the issues cited by the NCAA."

Within the past three years, the university has taken nine specific actions designed to increase control of and accountability within the athletics program:

- Hired a new athletics director who has no coaching responsibilities.

- Completed a self-study of intercollegiate athletics.

- Established an internal faculty/student-athlete classroom monitoring system concerning attendance and academic performance and, if appropriate, discipline.

- Revised the campus-based operational procedures for intercollegiate athletics and, for the first time, had them approved by the Board of Trustees.

- Established...as a subunit of the Board of Trustees and by revision of the bylaws of the Board...an Intercollegiate Athletics Standing Committee.

- Hired an Intercollegiate Athletics Compliance Officer to monitor as WSSU compliance procedures.

- Completed an operational procedures compliance manual for NCAA, CIAA and institutional athletics compliance.

- Established a briefing procedure for the chancellor to be conducted prior to his signing the NCAA Institutional Compliance form.

Restructured and upgraded the authority and powers of WSSU's Intercollegiate Athletics Committee over the conduct of athletics.

Robert J. Brown, Chairman of the WSSU Board of Trustees, called the situation "regrettable," but echoed the Chancellor's confidence in the restructured athletics program.

"The Board of Trustees has established a capable committee on athletics, chaired by Board member Attorney Robert Vaughn. Chancellor Thompson has also instituted a series of actions far exceeding what is normally required to insure strict compliance," Brown said.

As Chair of the Board's Athletics Committee, Vaughn stated, "The university can live with the penalties imposed by the NCAA, and the administrative management and monitoring procedures we've put in place in recent years should eliminate the possibility of a recurrence of such violations."

Brown added: "WSSU will move forward from this action with more determination and a clearer vision of its educational mission. We solicit the continued cooperation and support of this community and the board constituency of this great university."
