James Williams has been coaching basketball for five years, girls basketball for two of the five.

Williams is a graduate of East Forsyth High School and also a graduate of Forsyth Tech, with a degree in Electronic Data Processing.

"I also coached soccer for four years here at Reynolds High School on both the JV boys and girls program," Williams said.

"I started coaching my son about six years ago in soccer. The more I helped him, the more I liked it.

"We have a very young team here. They're inexperienced, but they're getting better every week and they don't get discouraged.

"My job is to help them get better. I'm a very disciplinary coach who believes in working hard and never quitting," Williams said.

"I have two players I'd like to bring attention to, although it takes the whole team to play a good game.

"Dana Covitz is a hard worker and wants to get better. She asks a lot of questions, but that lets me know that she wants to become a better basketball player. She wants to be a leader.

she started to now, she has improved greatly. Johnson is harder on herself than anyone else is. That's a sign of a good player. If she stays with the program I believe she'll be a good player," Williams said.

"As a coach I'm real proud. We've had a tough win/loss record, but as long as the team works hard I'll feel good about our season no matter what our record is," Williams said.

Dana Covitz "Our coach expects me to be everywhere at one time. I need to lead the team in defense and keep them motivated and up throughout the game."

Jamesha Johnson "I expect of myself to play as hard as I can. I also need to play better defense and rebound more."
