Urban League Hosts ABC Information Day

The North Carolina regional office of a Better Chance Inc. is holding an information day for prospective students grades 6-10 who are interested in attending college preparatory schools. The event will be held at the Winston-Salem Urban League, 201 W. Fifth St., on April 17 from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m.

Alberta McMillan, education director of the Urban League, and Aurelia McFadden-Reynolds, regional associate of A Better Chance Inc., will conduct the information session. General information about the organization and specific guidelines for the free application process will be given.

A Better Chance Inc., established in 1963, is the oldest academic talent search organization in the nation. A Better Chance identifies academically talented and highly motivated African-American, Asian-American, Latino/Hispanic American and Native American students from all economic backgrounds for placement in college preparatory schools across the country.

Qualified students in need are assisted financially by the schools in which they are placed.

"College preparatory schools offer young students a better chance because they concentrate more on individual instruction and personal attention," McMillan said. "The schools are very selective and have high expectations of their students. Their curriculums are specifically designed to prepare students for college. We want our parents and students to know that that they do have other choices in their educational opportunities.

"A Better Chance gives students chances they might not ordinarily get considering their economic or ethnic condition," said Reynolds. "We want to give them the chance to compete with the rest of the community."

If you are looking for "a better chance" to access exceptional educational opportunities, A Better Chance Inc. is looking for you! Mark your calendars and plan to attend the ABC information day at the Winston-Salem Urban League. Students will be assisted in completing the application forms.

For additional information, call Aurelia McFadden-Reynolds at (919)722-2900 or Alberta McMillan at (919) 725-5614.

Local Student Serves as House Page

Tryla Green of Winston-Salem served as a page in the North Carolina House of Representatives recently. Pages play an important role in the General Assembly by assisting members of the House during important committee debates and floor sessions.

Pages get a chance to see their government operate first hand and relate the experience to their friends and families in their hometowns across North Carolina.

Green was sponsored by Representative Pete Oldham.

"The Page program plays a vital role, House Speaker Dan Blue said. "It gives lawmakers a chance to interact with their government. And it gives lawmakers a chance to meet and listen to some of their most important constituents, their school children."

For further information about the page program, please contact Linnetta Threatt in the Speaker's office at (919) 733-3451.

WSSU Holds 5th Annual Book Sale

The 5th Annual WSSU Friends of the Library Book Sale will be held from 12-4 p.m. on April 22 on the campus of Winston-Salem State University.

The Book Sale, held in conjunction with the university's yearly International Day celebration, will be located in the mall area outside the student union.

The sale raises funds for new acquisitions while clearing the shelves of books that are no longer appropriate for an academic collection. The event also gives bibliophiles an opportunity to acquire additional jewels for their collections.

All types of books — children, musical scores, church music, cookbooks, romance novels, paperbacks and old textbooks — are sold at a nominal cost.

The public is invited to contribute to the sale by donating books they no longer use. Arrangements for pick-up can be made by calling Boon T. Lee, acquisition librarian, weekdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at 750-2452. The WSSU Friends of the Library was organized in 1986 to help enhance the services provided at O'Kelly Library. Since their first meeting, members have created a small endowment and raised nearly $5,000 in contributions for new collections, including books on medical technology and the African American experience.

Heart Association Run/Walk Rescheduled

The American Heart Association's 16th Annual Run and Walk for Your Life, originally scheduled for March 13 and snowed out, will be held April 17 at the Central YMCA on Glade Street. The Run and Walk will include a 5-mile and 10-mile run a 5-mile fitness walk. The run will take place at 9 a.m.

with the walk beginning at 9:15 a.m. All proceeds from the run will be used to fund research and education activities of the American Heart Association.

According to Jackie Whitley, chairperson of this year's event, anyone registered before the March 13th date will automatically be registered for the rescheduled event.

Anyone who was not registered before March 13th can obtain a registration form by calling the Heart Association at 659-9590 or by stopping by the YMCA, the YWCA or Omega Sports signing up at the YMCA the evening before the event or the morning of the run.

Apply Now for Leadership Education

Leadership Winston-Salem is accepting recommendations and applications of persons for the 1993-94 class program.

Leadership Winston-Salem is a non-profit leadership education program for the residents of Winston-Salem and Forsyth County. It has two goals: to expose our diverse community leaders to the important issues in our community and to expose these leaders to each other.

Leadership Winston-Salem does not provide training and development but education. Leadership Winston-Salem seeks demonstrated leaders from all walks of community life— business, education, religion, professions, government, health care, human services, labor, not for profit organizations, civic and neighborhood groups.

Class participants are expected to make a serious time commitment for nine months, including the Overnight Retreat September 10-17 and the Race & Gender Relations Seminar October 13-14. There are seven full-day programs, given the second Wednesday, from November to May.

Applications may be obtained by contacting the Leadership Winston-Salem office, P.O. Box 1408 Winston-Salem, NC 27102, phone number 725-4451.

WESTON TRAVEL

RAM OF THE WEEK

Weston Travel is pleased to recognize Neal Venable as our Ram of the Week. Neal, a senior, has been associated with the tennis program his entire four years at WSSU. For the past two years, he has been the captain and foundation of the team. So far this year, he has won 12 out of 18 matches in both singles and doubles competition.

When asked why he came to WSSU, Neal replied, "I came to run track, but they needed six players to make up a tennis team, so I worked my way up to the number 2 seed." When Neal is not on the tennis court, you can find him working in the Biochemistry Lab or presenting papers on Biochemical Research at such colleges as: Minnesota, Utah, or Puerto Rico.

Neal Venable will graduate in May with a degree in biology and pre-med. He plans to further his education by attending medical school. He is the son of Ethel Y. Venable and Richard E. Venable of Newport News, Virginia.

Weston Travel salutes Neal Venable for his diligence and commitment to excellence both on and off the court at Winston-Salem State University.
