

Fraternity has Successful Year

The brothers of the Delta Alpha Chapter of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity Inc. have worked diligently for the good of mankind. They started off the 1992-1993 school season by holding a book drive to combat illiteracy in the prisons and a can food drive where food was donated to the Winston-Salem Crisis Control Mission. A clothing drive was also held and the clothes were given to the Salvation Army.

A few of the brothers donated their time to the Red Cross Blood Drive at Winston-Salem State University.

In the area of community involvement, the brothers have volunteered time to clean up their Adopt-A-Highway area. They have also participated in voter registration drives and marches through the Happy Hills Gardens community to get people to vote. A scholarship fund was created by the Alpha Alpha Gamma Sigma Chapter in the name of Hoyt Wiseman. The benefit concert produced a new scholarship for a needy student to go to school. Brothers from different chapters attended the concert and donated money toward the scholarship fund.

The Delta Alpha Chapter includes: Tracy T. Webb president; Reginald Foster vice president; Darren Myers; Duane Hackney; Marty Hopkins; and Guy Parks. These men have worked hard to live out their fraternities motto, "Culture For Service and Service for Humanity."

Now, John Can Speak Up for Himself

Today, John is a successful and confident businessman. But he did not always have the confidence he needed to succeed. As a child, John stuttered. He was so embarrassed that he had difficulty making friends. But John's mother took him to a speech-language pathologist for an evaluation and treatment. If you or your child has a speech problem, it's nothing to be embarrassed about. Contact a speech-language pathologist today. A speech problem is one problem you don't have to live with.
