Tri-City Wins 18 Medals in Olympics

The Tri-City Relay team brought home 18 medals from the National Junior Olympic Games last week at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville.

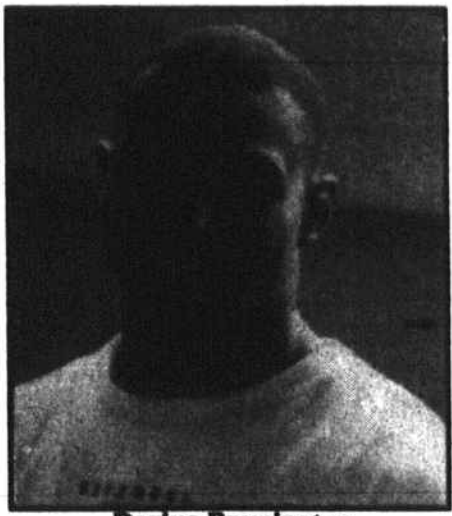

According to Coach Lemuel Johnson, "The competition was there. Over 5,000 track and field athletes competed. Our kids performed well, and we are very proud of them," he said.

In the Bantam Girls 9- to 10-year-old division, Marqueea Heath took eighth place in the 100-meter dash, with a time of 14.9.

In the Young Women 17- to 18-year-old division, Lave Wilson finished fifth in the long jump, with 17'2". Wilson also finished fourth in the triple jump, leaping 35'3", and Jatarra Hayes finished sixth with a close 34'8".

Finishing sixth in the 4 x 100 relay with a time of 48.94 was Marisa Poole, Gabrielle Williams, Shawnee Orange and Darius Poole.

In the 15- to 16-year-old Intermediate Boys division, Tyrone Graham took third place in the 100-meter dash, with a time of 11 seconds.

Darius Brewington

In the 4 x 100 meter relay, Ringo McKiver, Jeremy Charles, Freddie Johnson and Tyrone Graham took fifth place, with a time of 43.12 seconds.

Taking seventh place in the 4 x 400 relay was Mylone Hughes, Jeremy Charles, Freddie Johnson and Tyrone Graham.

In the Young Men's 17- to 18-year-old division, Darius Brewington finished in second place in the 100-meter dash, with a time of 10.70 seconds. In the 200-meter dash, Brewington captured third place in 21.32 seconds.

Lewis Harris, Brewington, Stephon Smith and Hamilton Cuthrell finished in third place in the 4 x 100 relay, with a time of 41.52 seconds.

According to Johnson, "We always want to encourage our athletes, and we'd like to encourage all athletes in all sports to participate in our future track program. I feel that track helps in every other sport.

"We encourage our athletes to concentrate on academics first, then sports. We have found in the past that when athletes become seniors and don't have the academic SAT scores, they end up going to a junior college if they go to college at all.

"We began a program last year called A&A Program which stands for athletes and academics. Last year we had over 50 kids participate in the program. Some of the ones who attended the program brought their grades up from a D to a B in their subjects.

"I believe it is beneficial for a student and will help him or her in academics. We held the class at Kingston Green Recreation Center last year with the help of Hansel Hentz and plan to expand to three or four sites this fall.

"We will be taking sign-ups early this year because of a new conditioning program we are beginning once at week beginning in September," Johnson said.

To sign up or get information, call Coach Tyrone Holmer, 723-

First Atlantic City Holiday Classic Scheduled for Dec.

▲ Three-day festival will honor the "father" of black college ball

The first annual Atlantic City Holiday Classic will be held Dec. 17-19 in the Atlantic City Convention Center.

The Classic is designed to celebrate the heritage and accomplishments of African-American colleges and universities.

The Classic will offer students, alumni, and friends of historically black colleges a three-day festival of athletic, social and business-oriented activities.

The anchoring event of the Classic will be the John B. McLendon Jr. Invitational Basketball Tournament, named in honor of the father of black college basketball.

The tournament will pit eight men's teams and four women's teams in a unique, dual single-elimination format, with the two winners being crowned by McLendon.

McLendon, considered the forefather of black college sports, changed the face of basketball.

This first annual tournament will be preceded on Dec. 16 by an awards banquet in honor of McLendon.

A host of honorees, including Clarence "Big House" Gaines of Winston-Salem State University, Nelson Brownlee of Clafin College and Robert Hughes of Fort Worth, Texas, are expected to attend.

According to Klassix Enterprises Inc., a significant portion of the proceeds from the Atlantic City Holiday Classic will be donated to a number of charitable entities geared toward offering opportunities for higher education to African-American youth.

As stated by Bill Osborne, president of Klassix Enterprises, "The donations will reinforce the Classic's goal of enhancing the prospects for African-American youths, while affirming the need for support of historically black colleges and universities."

For more information, contact Garry Johnson at Klassix Enterprises, 9 Lincoln Park, Newark, N.J. 07102, or call (201) 643-1110.
