Mothers shopped for clothes Saturday at the Ivy Baby Boutique sponsored by the Phi Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority.

AKAs Give Away Baby Clothes at Boutique

On Saturday, several mothers got up early to shop at the second annual Ivy Baby Boutique at Ivy Arms Apartment clubhouse. The Ivy Baby Boutique is a unique service project sponsored by the Phi Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority Inc. that offers free baby and children items to mothers in the community.

Shoppers selected many items ranging from maternity clothes to cribs, car seats, shoes and winter coats.

The items were solicited from the community by the sorors of Phi Omega Chapter.

New and previously owned clothing filled the tables and racks of the clubhouse. Sorors of the chapter consulted the mothers for clothing selection and childcare tips. In addition to community contributions, several companies contributed to the project's success, including Krispy Kreme, Healthtex Corp. and Spencers Inc.

Mothers were invited by service organizations such as Hand to Hand, WIC, Independence High School and local day-care facilities.

Several mothers expressed sincere gratitude for the useful items received. The entire day was summed up well by one mother of four who selected items for all her kids.

"It's great to see women helping women," she said, "and I will be glad to donate some of these things back for the next one."
