Sculptor Named Artist of the Year

The Sawtooth Center for Visual Art has named sculptor Martha Dunigan 1994 Winston-Salem Artist of the Year in recognition of her artistic excellence and her long history of dedication to the arts in Winston-Salem. Dunigan has created a mixed-media sculpture, "Safe Journey," which she will reproduce by hand in a signed, numbered limited edition.

Dunigan works in a studio in Winston-Salem's Sixth and Trade Art District, where she creates what has been called "some of the most provocative sculpture found in North Carolina." She teaches in the Visual Arts Department of the NC School of the Arts, and is an exhibiting member of Piedmont Craftsmen, the Tri-State Sculptors, Five Winston-Salem Printmakers, and Artworks, a Winston-Salem Co-op Gallery. She was awarded a 1989 Southeastern Artist Fellowship by the Southeastern Center for Contemporary Arts, where her sculpture was part of their Southeast Seven-12 exhibit.

Dunigan will be honored with a retrospective exhibition of her work in the Milton Rhodes Gallery of the Sawtooth Building next year.

Local NCNW Chapter to Sponsor Tea

special guests. Countries that will be represented include the United States (Maxine Brandon, captain; Tanya Jones, co-captain); Zimbabwe (Virginia Coleman, captain; Margaret Vigil, co-captain); China (Evelyn Acree, captain; Bernice Bess, co-captain); Mexico (Maria Burrell, captain; Norma Vincent, co-captain); Nigeria (Idella Jones, captain; Donley Young and Sandra Stinson, co-captains).

Manderline Scales is the state convener.

All members wishing to renew or upgrade their membership and persons wishing to join are urged to attend.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE COMMUNITY

Mayor Martha S. Wood

When we Democrats go to the polls on Tuesday, September 21 to choose our nominees for Mayor and the Board of Aldermen, we have the responsibility to use our votes to create a mandate for strong, effective measures that rid us of an alarming rising crime rate.

When I became Mayor four years ago, our city faced fundamental changes in our economic base that left us disillusioned about past and disheartened about the future. The outlook for business in Winston-Salem looked bleak.

We did not weaken in the face of these challenges. Instead, we brought together all our resources -- public, private, community-wide -- and worked cooperatively to solve our problems and plan for the future.

In just three short years, despite a national recession, we have added more than 3,000 new jobs with the promise of many more to come.

Now we need to build on our successes and deal straight-forwardly with our city's intolerable crime rate. The Violence Reduction Task Force I named recently is hard at work developing a plan of action that will turn these demoralizing statistics right side-up!

By working together, we can get handguns off our streets and out of the hands of our children; every neighborhood in our city can have an effective community watch; we can give the police the tools they need to do their job effectively:

- *superior training
- *a criminal justice system that works
- *first-rate equipment
- *strong citizen support

It is time for us to take bold, courageous action. I need your vote on September 21 to make the decisions necessary to make Winston-Salem the safest city in America.

Four years ago, I promised to work hard to ensure everybody a place at the table. I have kept that promise and the results speak for themselves. Now I pledge my tireless efforts to end this violence that threatens our prosperity.

Please complete the response form and mail it to me so that you can share your thoughts about this vital concern. Thank you for caring about our city.

Sincerely,

 Martha S. Wood
 Mayor

I'm counting on your vote on September 21!

Martha Wood

Dear Mayor Wood:

I strongly support keeping guns off the streets and out of the hands of our children.

I strongly support making after-school programs available to our youth.

I strongly support effective Community Watch Programs in every neighborhood in our city.
